Joe Charges: 'H-Research Was Stalled Deliberately'

McCarthy Claims 'Nation May Die' Because Of Delay

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Jooseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged Tuesday night America's hydrogen bomb research was delayed deliberately for 18 months.

"If there were no Communists in our government why did we delay x x x Who caused it?" he asked. "Was it loyal Americans or was it traitors in our government?"

He made the statement on a reply to radio-television commentator Edward R. Murrow's recent attack on him. He did not refer to Murrow when, in a general discussion of Communist pressure within this country, he said:

"If there were no Communists in our government, why did we delay for 18 months—delay our research on the hydrogen bomb, even though our intelligence agencies were reporting day after day that the Russians were feverishly pushing their development of the bomb? And may I say to America tonight that our nation may well die—our nation may well die because of that 18 month deliberate delay—and ask who caused it? Was it loyal Americans or was it traitors in our government?"

No Comment

In Washington, both the Atomic Energy Commission and Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said they had no comment on McCarthy's statement.

Murrow on March 9 accused McCarthy of repeatedly stepping over the line that divides investigation and persecution.

McCarthy retorted Tuesday night that Murrow "as far back as 20 years ago was engaged in propagand for Communist causes."

Between McCarthy and CBS, the text of the senator's filmed statement was kept secret up to the time of broadcast. However, in a reply prepared in advance, CBS said in part:

Fully Aware

"The management of CBS has had ample opportunity . . . to become fully aware of Mr. Murrow's passionate devotion to his country and to the fundamental principles upon which it is built. It also knows of his equally passionate opposition to those who, either within or outside our boundaries, would subvert those principles."

Murrow made no comment whatsoever on the television program, "See It Now," itself. But he, too, had a printed statement in reply to McCarthy ready in advance.

"Sen. McCarthy's reckless and unfounded attempt to impugn my loyalty is just one more example of his typical tactic of attempting to tie up to Communism anyone who disagrees with him x x x."

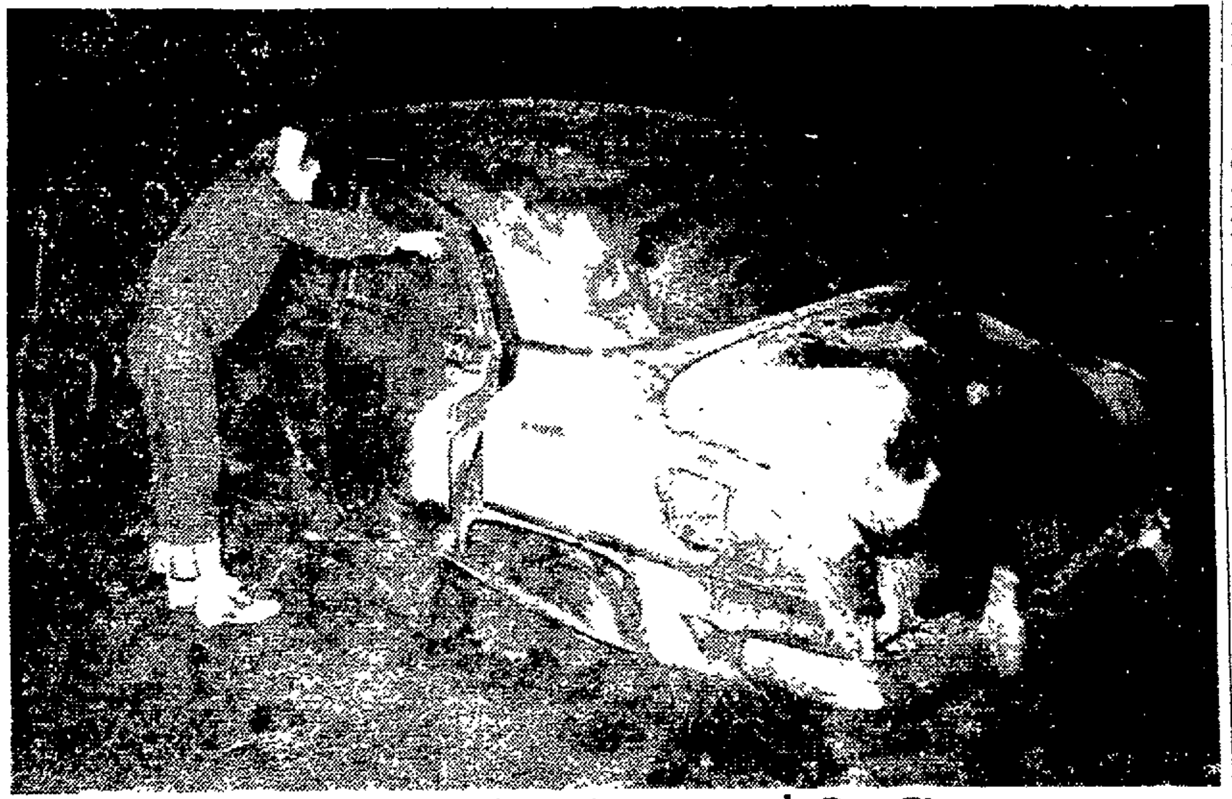
Grass Fire Blazes Across 250 Acres



Car Starts Fire, Destroyed By Fire

The car in which W. E. King and his wife were riding when it became stuck and started a fire in some weeds on his farm is examined by Pat Everett, 15, as it smoulders. The fire, which burned over some 250 acres of pasture and waste land, had burned about a quarter of a mile on beyond the blackened '53 auto. (Star Photo.)

Fire Ruins 250 Acres, Destroys Car

By BARCLAY BAYLEY
Star Staff Writer

A raging brush fire, started by the car that it destroyed, blackened about 250 acres of farm land six miles north of Lincoln and was still burning slightly early Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, another prairie fire at Ainsworth, Neb., crackled across two miles of prairie on the Sid Salzman ranch before it was stopped in a stack yard near a tenant house.

W. E. King, owner of the farm near Lincoln where the fire burned, was driving through some weeds in a slough with his wife when the car became stuck in the soft ground. Neighbors said that either the hot manifold of the car or the heat from the spinning tires started nearby weeds burning.

When King and his wife got out to see how badly they were stuck, they noticed the weeds and the car were on fire. They left to summon aid but the car was destroyed by fire.

More than 30 of King's neighbors used tractors and plows to try and halt the blaze. King said that he thought no crops had been damaged and that only waste or pasture land was involved.

University Place firemen, who received the fire call at about 7 p.m., poured 385 gallons of water on the blazing car and surrounding fields. The fire was largely extinguished as it burned into a damp area and some bare ground to the northwest.

The auto, a 1953 model, was destroyed by the fire but the loss was covered by insurance, King said.

In the Ainsworth fire twenty stacks of hay in the yard were lost before the blaze was brought under control by Ainsworth firemen.

The fire was driven by a brisk wind and whipped across the pasture land which was extremely dry as a result of the lack of moisture during the winter.

The Salzman ranch is about five miles southwest of Ainsworth. The land burned was about a mile wide and two miles long.

Blazing truck tires on an oil transport gave firemen another workout Tuesday. See story and picture on page 9.

Another car and garage it was in also were damaged here Tuesday by fire. See story and picture page 13.

Coats Go Off, Coolers On; High Temp 88

Lincolnites basked in sunshine Tuesday as the mercury soared to 88—peak temperature for the state.

Overcoats, suit jackets came off, convertible tops went down, and a few air conditioning systems were turned on during the summerlike day.

But Lincoln's 88 set no record for the city—on April 6, 1893, the temperature high was 91, according to Weather Bureau records.

However, Omaha's 85 set a new record. Their previous high was 83, recorded in 1922.

Temperatures in the state ranged from 71 at Chadron to the Lincoln high with most points reporting highs in the 80s.

The Weather man warned that such ideal conditions would not continue. The forecast predicts showers and scattered thunderstorms, principally in the eastern sector, continuing in the northeast and extreme east early Wednesday and Wednesday.

Lincoln's forecast called for cooler weather Wednesday with a high near 60 and much cooler Wednesday night.

Price Cut To Move Old Corn

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Millions of bushels of government-owned corn now stored in binsites in Nebraska may soon be moving out of federal storage and at reduced prices.

The state office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced Tuesday night that it had been notified that the Agriculture Department will sell nationally 170 million bushels of corn from the 1948 and 1949 crops.

James Newton of the price support section of the ASC office said that of this amount about 14 million bushels of 1948 and 1949 corn are stored in Nebraska. If this amount is sold, Newton said, it will constitute one of the largest movements of such grain from government storage ever made in this state.

About $1.55 Per Bushel

The Agriculture Department announced that, beginning immediately, the grain will be sold at local market prices, but at not less than 20 cents a bushel below the local 1953 price support rate for No. 3 yellow corn. Newton said the average market price for the corn would probably average about $1.55 a bushel over the state.

Newton said the corn will not be "dumped" on the market, but will move out of government storage only as it is purchased. In accordance with the announcement of the sale at reduced prices, Newton said sale of such corn be at about $1.35 a bushel, unless the market price level is reduced as a result of the government grain sale.

Help With Storage

The purpose of the large government grain sale is to dispose of the old corn before it deteriorates. The sale will also help provide storage space for newer crop corn which may be turned over to the government under price support operations.

During recent months, the Nebraska ASC office has been selling stored corn from the bins on a bid basis. Some three million bushels were sold in this fashion. The corn was acquired by the Department of Agriculture under the price support program. About 750 million bushels of corn are now stored under such programs.

Sale of the corn will be conducted through county ASC committees.

U.S.-Made Planes Strafe Coolies Bearing Supplies

Another Billion Is Earmarked For Asian War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower made a new move toward bulwarking Indo-China Tuesday by earmarking nearly one-third of next year's cut-down 3½ billion dollar foreign aid budget for the Asian war.

The President slashed European aid funds for the next fiscal year one billion dollars, or 58 per cent, under the current year. He sent to Congress a $3,497,700,000 overseas program, including Europe, Asia and other areas, for the year ending June 30, 1955.

The overall program is the smallest since global foreign aid got under way in 1948 and is more than one billion dollars less than the $4,726,000,000 voted by Congress last year.

Biggest Single Item

But it includes $1,133,000,000 for military and economic aid to Indo-China, the largest single item in a budget that otherwise reflects a marked scale-down in funds for arms.

Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen, outlining the program to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said Indo-China is earmarked for 300 million dollars in arms, 800 million in military-supporting expenditures and the balance for economic help.

He said this budget is based on the belief that Indo-China must be held and that the war there can be won in two years.

New Concern Felt

This is about the same total as current expenditures—about 65 per cent of the cost of Indo-China fighting—but the new request comes amid fresh concern over the outcome of current bitter fighting.

In all, the Far East and the Pacific are bracketed for a total of $1,768,900,000, a little over half the entire measure. This is a higher percentage than last year but about the same total.

Europe is cut from $2,300,000,000 to $947,700,000. Much of this, Secretary of State Dulles told the committee, reflects a cutdown of new funds for arms to support the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Dulles said the cut-back was due to a revision of ground force goals, under the "new strategy" of emphasizing massive retaliation, and "substantial progress" made already in equipping and training NATO forces.

Outskirts Beer License Limit Considered

Lancaster County Commissioners are considering a policy limiting the number of beer licenses within five miles of Lincoln's corporate limits to the present number.

Public hearing on the proposal, submitted by Board Chairman Russell Brehm, has been set for April 13, 10 a.m., at the Courthouse.

There are presently 15 county beer licenses on the outskirts of Lincoln, including the recent license approved for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Balog on Highway 34 near 8th and Oak, Brehm said.

A forthcoming policy restatement was indicated last week when the commissioners split 2-1 in approving the Balog license.

Commissioner Chauncey Barney had dissented in the approval contending the county's current "spot policy" covered the Balog location.

The message also told Mrs. de Castries: "Everything is fine."

$4,157,000 Base Work Authorized

Aircraft Apron, Mess Halls Will Be Built

An authorization to spend an additional $4,157,000 on new construction at Lincoln Air Force Base was received late Tuesday from the chief of engineers by Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River Division engineer.

Gen. Potter announced that the money would be used for construction of a new aircraft apron, some mess hall and other airfield facilities.

The money is not newly-appropriated but rather an authorization to spend money already appropriated.

The announcement said that the district office in Omaha has been assigned the work and will now prepare plans and specifications and advertise bids, which will be announced at a later date.

The money for the air base here was the largest single item in a group of directives authorizing a total of $19 million for seven projects in the four Missouri Basin states.

Meanwhile Congress was asked Tuesday to authorize $896,976,600 for military public works. The bill included an appropriation of $1,126,000 for unspecified construction at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Officials here and in Omaha said that they did not know at this time what use was planned if the money is appropriated.

Included in the overall request for appropriations was $110,325,000 for radar warning and control installations in the continental defense system.

Dien Bien Phu Defenders Hold Fast

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French launched their heaviest air assaults of the Indo-Chinese War Tuesday to aid the beleaguered defenders of Dien Bien Phu.

American-supplied fighters and B-26 bombers laid down barrages of thousands of pounds of high explosives and fire bombs on Communist-led rebel troop concentrations.

They ranged out to smash rebel supply convoys, strafed thousands of coolies carrying Red war materiel while cargo planes parachuted tons of ammunition and supplies to men in the besieged fortress.

French troops and their Vietnamese allies, bolstered by the air drops, tightened their network of defenses for another expected large scale assault by the Vietminh rebels.

Reports were current here that Vietminh Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap intended to throw tens of thousands of men into battle in a supreme bid to wipe out the fortress.

(A French Press Agency report said that Vietminh commanders were rushing up 20,000 reinforcements. There was no confirmation of this figure.)

Heavy Rains Fall

As heavy rains hit the mountains and valleys of the pro-French Thai tribal peoples country, Vietminh artillery continued to roar.

The Vietminh concentrated much of their fire upon the main airstrip to prevent it being used for landing troop reinforcements or for the French to evacuate their wounded.

French bombers hit hard against the roads linking Dien Bien Phu with Red China. Thousands of tons of guns, ammunition, war materiel and rice have been flowing from there to supply the life blood for the furious rebel assaults upon the fortress.

The Vietminh still depend upon Langson, 80 miles northeast of Hanoi and 250 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu, as the principal point of entry for aid from Red China.

An army of coolies estimated to number between 100,000 and 150,000, supplies the rebel forces surrounding Dien Bien Phu with packs of a hundred pounds each upon their backs.

Simultaneously Russian-made Molotov trucks and American vehicles which the Red Chinese picked up from the Nationalists rumbled along the dirt roads day and night. These, like the coolies, were under heavy air strafings and bombings.

The Vietminh, after their extremely heavy losses in the last six days of fierce assaults, were regrouping and resting.

W. Lincoln Elects Two Incumbents And 1 Newcomer

Two incumbents and one new candidate were elected to the Board of Trustees of West Lincoln in an election Tuesday.

Re-elected were Freddie Way and Jack Brown Jr. and elected for the first time was Fay Hawkins.

In the only other contest, Lew Ritchey was elected police judge.

County Assessors Office Asks $13,000 More For Tax Work

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur Davis has informed the Board of Commissioners that his office will need at least $13,000 more than the budgeted $69,300 for this fiscal year, ending June 30.

Presenting projected figures, Davis explained the additional expense is being caused by additional duties imposed by the motor vehicle tax law and the need for mailing real estate valuation notices in connection with the completed county-wide reappraisal program.

The cost of "Operation Notice" was estimated at $5,500. Davis said this could be treated as an additional budget requirement or as a special fund for cost control purposes.

As for his $69,300 general budget with an unexpended balance of $31,001.11 as of March 31, Davis estimated expenditures for the remainder of the year at $38,580, leaving a deficit of $7,580.

Budget items which will show deficits are deputy and clerks, $5,039, assistant assessors, $2,524, supplies and printing, $1,811.67, and telephone, $97.80.

Davis said labor costs over and above the regular office staff in connection with motor vehicle assessments was $7,210 for October, 1953, through March. Additional printing supplies needed cost $2,073.

He said his office is processing an average of 66 motor vehicle assessment notices and seven tax refunds a day, according to daily figures for March 18 to April 1.

Additional labor expense was $737.50 during March, but November, December and January accounted for about $4,714 during the "heavy season."

The Commissioners agreed with Davis that this additional expenditures could not have been foreseen and that a budget "emergency" exists.

They will study Davis' figures in connection with an "emergency appropriation" for the assessor's office later.

Sen. Kennedy Claims Dulles Indicated Willingness For War

Ike Talk On Crisis Is Asked

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

WASHINGTON—(INS) —One senator declared President Eisenhower should address a joint session of Congress on the Indo-China crisis and another asserted that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has indicated a U. S. willingness to go to war.

Meanwhile, the U. S. sought to muster the full moral force of the free world to avert a major conflict in Asia by an international warning that Chinese Red aggression in Indo-China could bring massive retaliation against the China mainland.

In the Senate. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), declared Mr. Eisenhower should come before congress and spell out the administration's plans on Indo-China so the Senate and House can act to give him "a strong hand to back up our position in southeast Asia."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), also in a senate speech, asserted that when Dulles called for "United Action" to prevent Indo-China's fall to the Reds, he indicated American willingness to go to war.

"Ultimate Step"

Kennedy said Dulles indicated the U.S. would take the "ultimate step" to prevent a Communist victory. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), asked: "And what is the ultimate step?" Kennedy replied: "War."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, Calif., entering the Indo-China discussion, declared U. S. Allies should "stand up and be counted" as to their intentions of joining in a southeast Asia collective security plan.

Knowland said the U.S. has given a "billion" to build up the anti-Communist strength of Allied nations.

He added: "But we cannot have an effective system of collective security if some of the countries receiving our help, now when the chips are down, stand on the side-lines while we assume the major burden as we did in Korea."

"Challenge"

The Californian also declared France should grant independence to Indo-China to bolster the Vietnamese struggle against the Reds, which he called a "challenge" the free nations "cannot ignore."

In Paris, the French government called an emergency cabinet meeting to consider the U.S. proposal for "united action" to head off war in Asia.

Meanwhile, the State Department officially disclosed that Dulles has been in consultation with representatives of France, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, and the Philippines on his "united action" call.

Australian diplomatic sources said no Allied nation has yet accepted the U.S. plan for a joint warning to the Chinese Reds that their intervention in Indo-China could bring crushing retaliation.

Dulles told the House Foreign Affairs Committee Monday that the Chinese Communists are "coming awfully close" to the open aggression in Indo-China which the U. S. repeatedly has warned could widen the conflict far beyond its present limits.

The Secretary of State cancelled his scheduled news conference Tuesday because of "pressing business," the nature of which was not disclosed, but which diplomats believed had to do with the ominous military situation in Indo-China.

County Emergency Funds Season Officially Underway

The season for emergency appropriations for Lancaster County budgets for the 1953-54 fiscal year has officially opened.

Tuesday, the Board of Commissioners::

1. Approved a $6,500 emergency grant to the County Welfare Department's boarding home care fund for children.

2. Heard Assessor Arthur Davis' request for about $13,000 to cover increased office expense caused by the motor vehicle tax law and required mailing of 1954 real estate valuation notices.

Shot In Arm

3. Indicated that probably three other budgets—the Detention Home fund, the sheriff's county jail fund, and the postage fund—would be needing a shot in the arm.

The $6,500 grant for the boarding home care fund is expected to cover the now-anticipated deficit projected on the next three months from expenditures for the past nine in the $35,000 budget.

Welfare Director William McDermet said the additional $6,500 was necessary because of the "greater number of children coming before the (juvenile) court who need boarding home care."

Steady Increase

So far this fiscal year, the average monthly number of children cared for in boarding or foster homes has been 174. This number has shown a steady increase in the previous fiscal years with 120 children on a monthly average during 1951-52 and 156 during 1952-53.

While $35,000 was also budgeted for the two previous fiscal years, expenditures have also increased yearly: $25,291 in 1951-52 and $32,631 in 1952-53, figures show.

Expenditures as of March 31 this year have totalled $30,699, with anticipated expenditures of $10,530 during the next three months.

Needs More

Commissioner Chris Kuhner said the Detention Home budget of $6,675 with expenditures totalling $5,064 to March 1 will be needing an emergency appropriation to make ends meet during the next three months.

Kuhner, estimating needed additional funds at $500 to $600, cited the increased number of delinquent children temporarily held at the home. He said the number during 1953 was 164 children as compared with 87 in 1952.

The county's postage fund has not escaped increased expense burdens. Kuhner said $1,000 remains in the postage fund, but that some $1,500 in metered stamps would be used in the mailing of the assessor's 1954 real estate notices.

Jail Deficit

Sheriff Merle Karnopp expects his $27,220 jail budget will show a deficit again this year. Expenditures as of March 1 totaled $20,022, but Karnopp said he is awaiting April 1 totals before making a projected study of expenditures for next three months.

However, Karnopp estimated the deficit may run to approximately $2,000, the amount that was cut off his budget request for the year by the county board.

Increased prisoner load was cited by Karnopp as cause for heavy jail expenditures. He said $11,420 has been spent feeding prisoners up to March 31 as compared with a budgeted $13,570 for the year.

Karnopp anticipated his $51,715 office budget would stretch out the fiscal year okay. Expenditures up to March 1 totaled $32,715.

—Bomb Tests—

H-Effects Observed By British

Churchill Adds Fire To British Debates

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill added to Britain's H-bomb furor by telling the House of Commons that British planes—with American approval—made observation flights at U.S. hydrogen bomb tests last month.

In another of the continuing series of atomic statements, the Foreign Office revealed that the United States asked for and got British permission before dropping the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945.

The United States acted in accord with a secret pact, disclosed Monday, between Churchill and the late President Roosevelt pledging the two countries not to use the A-bomb without the other's consent.

Churchill told the House that two of the planes assigned to the H-bomb survey were lost, but the Prime Minister insisted this had nothing to do with the bomb blast.

Well Informed

The 79-year-old statesman, engaged in one of the most violent political fights of his career, said the planes surveyed the blast sites March 1 and March 27, a few hours after H-bomb explosions on those dates.

This was the first public acknowledgement that the British government was well enough informed about the tests and their timing to send planes in at the proper time.

It was also the first revelation that the United States had permitted Britain to send such planes to gather information at the tightly-guarded, highly secret test sites.

Churchill's statement made it obvious that the United States was keeping Britain considerably more informed on its H-tests than has previously been known.

The Prime Minister has been humiliated in Parliament and attacked in the left-wing press for earlier admissions that he had no knowledge of the tests.

No Trip Planned

The two new disclosures on nuclear matters came as the uproar over Churchill's publication of the wartime secret pact raged furiously throughout the island.

As questions about A-bombs and H-bombs flew in Commons, Churchill told the House he would be "delighted" to welcome President Eisenhower here for talks on the problem. He said, however, there was little chance the President "could leave his heavy duties at the present time" to journey to London.

(In Washington, the White House said such a trip was not under consideration.)

The Prime Minister said that although British planes made experimental flights, the United States had not permitted British technicians to be present at the explosions.

He said the facilities granted were in return for similar courtesies extended by Britain to the United States during her own A-bomb tests off Australia.

Tentative Budget For Health Department Totals $158,440

Director of the City-County Health Department James T. Googe offered a tentative budget of $158,440 to the health board Tuesday evening for the 1954-55 budget year.

It represented an increase of $3,440 over the 1953-54 budget granted the department.

The only increases in the tentative budget were $2,440 in salaries and $1,000 in biologics and drugs.

The health board will consider the budget at the next regular meeting of the group.

The budget includes: Salaries, $131,940; travel, $11,000; biologics and drugs, $3,500; operating expenses, $10,000 and new equipment $2,000.

Dr. Googe said that incoming fees estimated as a source of revenue may amount to $30,000 during 1954-55.

And the department, he said, will receive $4,126.66 more in fees than was estimated in the 1953-54 budget if the present average is continued. Up to April first $21,095.02 in fees has been taken in.

The increase above estimate is due mainly to increase in the number of meat, milk and food fees, Dr. Googe said.

The health board also voted to pay for laboratory tests on milk products containing vitamin D, which has been to date paid for by the dairies. Dr. Googe said it would cost the department an estimated $300 annually.

The board also approved the expense of $750 for the polio field trial which tentatively has been set to April 26, if the vaccine arrives.

A fly control proogram was tabled until the next meeting.

Junior Jaycees Plan World Peace Prayers

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday announced plans for a special day of prayer for world peace on Saturday, May 1.

"By so ding, we will not only exert the most powerful force at our command — prayer—toward the search for world peace, but we also will give new, loftly significance to May Day," commented Dean Krats, Junior Chamber president, who noted that in the past the Communists had chosen May Day as one of their holidays.

The Lincoln group is joining in the "May Day-Pray Day" observance as part of an international program, Kratz explained.

Firm Incorporates

Consolidated, Inc., Lincoln, filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State Tuesday with authorized capital of $50,000. M. Mordecai and Lawrence H. Berg were incorporators.

Session Topics Studied

Only Revenue, Taxes Likely

Terms of the call for a special session of the Legislature on April 20 are expected to be settled at the meeting of Gov. Robert Crosby with the Legislative Council taxation committee on Friday.

At special sessions, the call issued by the governor limits the subjects on which action can be taken. The governor indicated that he would limit the call, as requested by the legislative committee, to constitutional amendments dealing with revenue and taxation.

Should he so word the call, the session could be limited to only amendments to certain sections of the revenue and taxation section of the Constitution.

Pressure Seen

Pressure already has been exerted on both the governor and the committee to open the session up to amendments of any section of the Constitution by groups hoping to obtain special benefits under changes they seek to have the Legislature approve.

The governor indicated that he had agreed with the committee that any call issued would be limited to revenue and taxation and that the wording would be discussed between them before the actual call is made.

It is also expected that the governor and committee will seek to reach an agreement on the bills to be introduced and the wording of the proposed amendments which both agree should be carefully considered.

There will be no laws passed at the session and the bills to be introduced will only authorize submission to the voters of amendments for their approval or rejection.

Speaker of the Legislature Tvrdik and Sen. Vogel, agree in a belief the special session will approve four recommendations of the committee.

However, Tvrdik says he believes one of them may run into a lot of trouble.

Four Recommendations

The four recommendations are:

Tax different classes of property differently; change the makeup of the State Board of Equalization; appoint county assessors, exempt household goods and personal effects from taxation.

It is the first one in which Tvrdik says he sees trouble. He commented "I can envision where everybody would be coming to the Legislature to promote their special interests."

The committee, Tvrdik added, did not pass on a sales tax or a homestead exemption — these being, he said, outside the committee's jurisdiction.

William Ritchie, a Democratic candidate for the governorship, said Tuesday, "A special session seems to be just an unnecessary political expense."

"All they plan to do," Ritchie added, "is push the tax load from one set of taxpayers onto another. They should appoint a committee to study reducing state and subdivision expenditures, cut out some unnecessary activities, cut down on duplication and simplify activities."

Woman Provides Money For Milk Fund 25 Years

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. I. C. Maust, 82, who fostered a milk fund project in the depression and has kept it going for the past 25 years, has turned it over to the B.P.O. Does.

Mrs. Maust, who was the chairman and entire committee of the milk fund, established the project to provide milk in the schools for children who otherwise would not have been able to afford it.

The milk was paid for out of voluntary contributions to the fund by charitable Falls City individuals and organizations.

The program was set up so only the teacher knew who was getting the milk free and who was paying for it.

A distinguished member of the Massachusetts Bar, Samuel Sears, Boston attorney, has done the handsome thing in a Senate investigation of Sen. McCarthy's dispute with the Army. In Washington Tuesday Mr. Sears tendered his resignation as counsel to the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, normally headed by Sen. McCarthy himself but temporarily under the wing of Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota.

To a majority of the men on the street, we believe, it was the only course open to Mr. Sears. Nevertheless Mr. Sears is entitled to credit for backing out as gracefully as any man could in the circumstances.

After denying most of the allegations against him following announcement of his appointment last week, Mr. Sears recognized the proprieties in the scheduled investigation of McCarthy's quarrel with the Army with these words:

"I believe it is in the public interest that I withdraw as counsel. . . . The investigation must go forward not only with the full confidence of those involved, but perhaps more important, with the absolute confidence of the people. At no time should there be an opportunity for anyone to feel that all the facts are not brought forward or that any material information is withheld."

Mr. Sears will lose nothing in stature by his decision to resign, nor more particularly by the frank, forthright statement which accompanied the resignation. Whatever may have been his thoughts when he made application for the post of counsel, he goes directly to the heart of this matter in drafting a resignation. The McCarthy affair has reached the point where the investigation must not only be right—that is, fair, thorough, and searching—but it must look right. It must be above suspicion. And Mr. Sears' former position in which it was disclosed that he had praised McCarthy publicly in 1952 and had volunteered to raise funds for his re-election could not make Sears in the role of counsel look right no matter how hard he tried in conscientious spirit to discharge the responsibilities placed upon him.

Sen. Mundt probably wishes that he hadn't shot off his mouth when the criticism of the Sears appointment first developed.

Quieting The Fears

President Eisenhower has been in office slightly more than 14 months.

He came to the presidency after an unforgettable campaign on a mounting tide inspired by the American people's affection for one of their idols. It is somewhat significant that slightly more than a year after he had taken the oath of office, Mr. Eisenhower and his advisers decided that the time had come to quiet the fears of his people. Those fears were not limited to any one field. There was the fear built out of recent revelations of the destructiveness of the hydrogen bomb. There was another fear that America was about to become involved in the seven-year-old struggle in Indo-China. There were other fears resulting from mounting unemployment in this country, the close-to-home fear of losing one's job.

It was Mr. Eisenhower's mission to quiet those fears. Temporarily, at least, the President in soothing tones no doubt did a good job of allaying apprehension. That, at best, can be only a temporary development. The speed with which this world moves, one clap of thunder following another, suggests first of all the uncertainties which are to be anticipated today.

If the President has been persuaded by politicians around him that this fear has been fanned by partisan political leaders belonging to a different party, he overlooks the real character of the American people. In ever-increasing number, they are abandoning the more rabid form of partisanship in recognition of the fact that the world in which they live truly is a dangerous one.

We think the President has analyzed the position of Soviet Russia as well as any man can anticipate what a totalitarian government may do. It isn't simply a question of whether Russia will make an attack against us. Secretary of State Dulles in recent days has been educating us to the fact that developments may arise which will compel us to decide what is to be done. A spark in the jungles of Indo-China could change the situation in the Far East overnight.

There was much more basis for the late FDR to say to the American people that we had nothing to fear but fear itself in the world in which he lived than for the present occupant of the White House to take up the refrain.

Mr. Eisenhower's world is more dangerous.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The University of Nebraska Foundation started out auspiciously in its program of awarding some faculty member with a Medal for Distinguished Teaching, recognition which automatically carried with it a stipend of $1,000. The choice was Lane W. Lancaster, professor of political science. It is a most excellent one.

At Home In The Classroom

In presenting the medal to Dr. Lancaster, W. W. Putney of the Foundation quoted Emerson's words: "Happy the natural college thus self-instituted around every natural teacher." Then Mr. Putney added: "This university has such a natural teacher." Then so aptly descriptive of the noblest attributes of the teaching profession was this: "The true teacher rises above the love of praise, for he knows that he does not live for himself, but for his students and for the truth which they seek with him in a common enterprise. He cannot expect a worship of his skill, since it is opening minds to truth and wisdom that he seeks. But among the countless young faces that appear before him, the true teacher knows there are youthful minds in which things learned will be remembered. It is at that moment when the student and teacher will share that "paradise of the heart" where agreement is more than a matter of debit and credit." Those are words which a humble man, Dr. Lancaster, can treasure, words so truthfully spoken and so aptly applied to the inspirational qualities Mr. Lancaster has contributed to busy years in the classroom. They are fitting reward for hours which must have been filled both with disappointment and happines. We have known Lane Lancaster for many years. A brilliant scholar, an understanding heart when it comes to youth, the atmosphere of any classroom over which he presides never will be gray, dull, nor depressing.

The award came at the Honors Convocation, a tradition that is acquiring greater significance each year. In deciding to provide a medal for distinguished teaching annually, the University of Nebraska Foundation has made a fine contribution.

Up To Legislature Now

Gov. Crosby's decision to call the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature into special session, starting April 20, a decision based upon the request of the Legislative Council Taxation Committee headed by Sen. Otto H. Liebers, puts Nebraska's tax headache squarely up to the law-making body. If the Legislature finds itself bogged down in a hopeless maze of argument, then the solons will have no one to blame but themselves. In the judgment of this writer, there is no easy solution of the tax mess with which this special session must deal. Whatever action it takes is certain to arouse criticism. There is no painless method through which the necessary revenue to support state government can be raised. The property tax, which has been since the beginning of statehood the base of Nebraska's tax structure, is beginning to reel under the weight of years during which understandably, the scope and costs of government have increased. The Legislature may have its own notions about the amount of money needed for state government. If it has, then it is in a position to determine how the money should be raised. If it has not given thought, first, to present and future needs, and second, to whether those needs are prudent, far-sighted and economical in the tradition of a thrifty people, then the lawmakers are wasting their time.

From the start, all thinking in connection with this tax mess must begin with an honest recognition of minimum requirements. The Legislature's job is to draft constitutional amendments which take care not only of today but tomorrow. Whatever is drafted should be durable enough and broad enough to cover the years.

TVA Budget Cut

An unfriendly Congress has reduced by $38 million President Eisenhower's request for TVA. The original request itself was not a very large one. While the President is not a radical foe of public power he has made it plain that he believes private power is entitled to a better place in the sun.

The reduction according to the indignant St. Louis Post-Dispatch, means that Congress intends to saddle higher electric rates on the 1,300,000 TVA customers, "impairing the efficiency of the agency and the fairness of its rates."

"These are tactics of spite rather than sense," goes on the Post-Dispatch. "If there are members of the House who want to put an end to TVA, it would be more admirable of them to come out openly and fight for that objective."

TVA and public power in general are a controversial issue in America. But it must be admitted that they have combined to bring vast economic improvement to areas which beforehand were national liabilities. And they represent a public investment.

Even those with a strong feeling against them and who look forward to the day when they may be owned and operated by private operators should not forget the welfare of the areas they have helped nor the public's invested capital. Those things also have a priority against willful deterioration.

Tax Savings

The move in Congress to raise personal exemptions and thereby spread broadly the benefits of income tax reductions stimulates public interest and at the same time raises the individual's question as to how much he can expect to benefit.

Jumping the exemption from $600 to $700 per individual would have a real effect. Earlier fiddling with rates failed to help the lower bracket taxpayer. Indeed, such reduction as he got was nullified by his increase in social security levies.

But under an exemption increase of $100, a single person with a $2,000 annual income would save $20. One with $5,000 would save $22, one with $8,000 would save $30 and one with $10,000 would save $34.

The gains would be more substantial in the case of married couples, say, with two children. The saving on a $3,000 annual income would be $60, on $5,000, $80; on $8,000, $88, and on $10,000, $88.

Jenner Set To Probe Democrat Primaries

WASHINGTON—Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin and Sen. Jenner of Indiana both are good friends and fellow Red-hunters. But the other day they got just a little miffed at each other over the question of this writer.

When this column carried an advance story on how Jenner's committee was going to use ex-Ambassador Spruille Braden as a star witness against Alger Hiss, and the State Department, McCarthy blew up.

He claimed that Jenner's committee had been infiltrated. "Pearson," he claimed, "had planted a spy" inside the committee.

Sen. Jenner also got worried, began to talk about the possibility of a "secret Harold Ickes" being on his committee staff. The liberal Republican he suspected at first was Charles Grimes, new counsel for the Internal Security Committee and a former Dewey crime-buster.

This writer had praised Grimes as fair-minded, so Jenner immediately suspected that he was the "Pearson spy," and even enlisted the services of the FBI to track down the leak.

I can assure you, however, senator, that Mr. Grimes was not the source of my advance story on your operations. And just to prove that he wasn't, here is further secret information about another phase of your activity, in the rules committee, which has nothing to do with Mr. Grimes and which I am sure he knows nothing about—until he reads this. Here is the next move you are contemplating:

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

The secret minutes of Jenner's rules committee show that he is planning to repeat his political strategy of 1948 and investigate Democratic primaries this year, then publicize Democratic "election scandals" on the eve of the general election.

In the past, it has been the committee's practice to keep out of party primaries, investigate only final elections. Only exception to this came during the GOP 80th Congress, when Jenner headed the Senate Elections subcommittee, at which time he rushed around investigating Democratic primaries, trying to dig up dirt against Democratic candidates before the general election. Simultaneously he ignored Republican primaries, including a smelly GOP scandal in Rhode Island.

However, behind the closed doors of the Senate Rules committee Jenner announced that he would ask the Senate for $75,000 to investigate primaries again.

The secret minutes quote Jenner's announcement as follows: "Thirty-five senators will be up for re-election this year. Thirty-four will be running in primaries, during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September. Delaware alone will hold a convention.

"Many of these contests are expected to be close and result in hard campaigning," the minutes continue, quoting Jenner. "The experience of the committee in the past has been that primary elections demand equal attention from the privileges and election subcommittee.

"For this reason, a compact staff should be established at the end of March to undertake spot investigations arising out of complaints which may be made in the forthcoming primaries, and for which there is adequate precedent on the committee records," Jenner adds, neglecting to mention that the only precedents were set by himself in 1948. "If these primaries result in more contests than could be expected, the Senate can raise the ante sometime in July or August before it adjourns."

Democratic senators agreed this might be a good idea—provided Republican as well as Democratic primaries are investigated.

BROWNELL'S WIRE-TAPS

Attorney General Brownell has been literally begging for someone to introduce his wire-tap bill on the Senate side of Congress. So far, only Sen. McCarthy has offered to sponsor the bill, and Brownell just doesn't like the idea of having McCarthy's name on it.

The attorney general tried to persuade McCarthy's colleague, senior Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, to introduce the bill, but Wiley insisted that the question of whose phones were to be tapped should be left up to the courts, not the attorney general. So he said no. Meanwhile Brownell's wire-tap proposal is lying in Vice President Nixon's office, waiting for some senator—other than McCarthy—to pick it up.

Note—The Brownell proposal would make wire-tap evidence admissible in the courts retroactively; in other words wire-tap evidence taken illegally several years ago would now become admissible. McCarthy's Democratic friend, Sen. McCarran of Nevada, is vigorously opposed to the wire-tap bill. He suspects his own phones have been tapped.

French Generals Show Political Incapacity

PARIS—France has had an unhappy experience of military men in politics in recent years. The dismissal of Marshal Alphonse Juin is only the last in a long series of episodes in which high-ranking officers have demonstrated their incapacity for political life.

Becoming head of the Vichy government during the Nazi occupation of France beginning in the summer of 1940, the late Marshal Philippe Petain won the hatred of most of his countrymen. He was condemned to death but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and until his death in 1951 at age 94 his partisans never ceased to agitate in his behalf.

If Petain was for most Frenchmen the villain, General Charles DeGaulle who led the Free French forces in the second World War was the hero. Significantly Juin conferred with DeGaulle, now in partial retirement, before making the speech attacking the European Defense Community which led to his dismissal.

On the wave of his great wartime popularity and with the support of the overwhelming majority of the French people, DeGaulle became premier in 1946 with a new constitution supposedly designed to prevent the curse of recurring governmental crises. But DeGaulle soon proved himself ignorant of even the elementary knowledge and skill required to hold a coalition government together.

DeGaulle made a series of blunders not the least of which was to accept the Communists at face value and put them in strategic positions in his coalition government. Since getting along with Communist Russia was part of the prewar atmosphere, DeGaulle cannot be entirely blamed for this. But he compounded that error with others, deepening the divisions on the right while the Communists have maintained the hard core of their strength within the framework of French political and administrative life.

DeGaulleist deputies hold certain minor cabinet posts in the Laniel government. Their resignation could end the coalition and bring on another governmental crisis such as occurred last May and June when the Big Three Bermuda conference was originally to have been held. This threat they constantly hold over Premier Laniel.

It is not that the DeGaulleists and other elements on the extreme right deny the need for German divisions to complete the defense of Western Europe. Ironically enough, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault has relied on earlier statements by Juin of such a need to help persuade the assembly and the country to accept EDC. But the DeGaulleists and other rightist elements insist on national armies, both French and German, held together in a loose confederation by a Council of Ministers.

One of the DeGaulleists deputies is still another famous general, Gen. Marie-Pierre Koenig. Koenig is chairman of the important National Defense Committee of the assembly. In that office he has helped to delay the progress of EDC. Again in this strange partnership, Jules Moch, a socialist deputy, holds a key position on the Foreign Affairs Committee and he has used his power, too, to hold up EDC.

Gen. Augustin Guillaume, one of the few generals known to favor EDC, is being talked of as a successor to Juin. General Guillaume is now governor general of French Morocco, a key position since Arab nationalists abetted by the Communists are threatening France's north African empire. The loss of the African colonies would be a severe, perhaps even a fatal, blow to the French economy. With continuous agitation and repeated acts of violence, the Army is essential to hold this overseas bastion, which is one reason generals and marshals can exert such an influence on French politics.

The controversy over Juin, which is part of the long and bitter dispute over EDC, has cast something of a shadow on the real achievements of NATO.

General Alfred Gruenther, present supreme commander of SHAPE, has many times said that the defense of Europe will be deficient until German troops are part of the force. But even though this hole exists the accomplishments are substantial. Perhaps the most outstanding is the fact that the number of air bases capable of taking modern jet planes has gone from 12 or 15 three years ago to 150. Not all are completed, but all are able to take jets. The fact that the NATO air force can be shifted over such a wide range multiplies its defensive power. There are now about 4,000 planes in the NATO force, including hundreds of sabre jets.

There are still, however, serious deficiencies. Canada is the only country that has completely equipped and manned the four jet air wings pledged to NATO.

But even when examined against such a realistic appraisal, NATO is far more than just a political facade. It is building a pipe-line system to supply the jet bases and important steps have been taken to co-ordinate the defense efforts of the 14 nations.

In this effort Marshal Juin has had an important part as commander of the armies of Central Europe, one of the three subordinate commanders under Gruenther. If his speech made at the height of the crisis over EDC helps to undermine the political supports of NATO, it will be a tragedy not alone for France but for all the western world.

BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

The Life Of Christ

"He became transfigured, His face shining as the sun, His garments becoming white as snow."

CHAPTER XXI

(Bishop Sheen pointed out, in yesterday's "The Life of Christ" installment, that it was not till midway of Jesus' public life that His apostles and disciples saw the opposition against Him grow. But the web in which He is to be caught on Calvary's hill will not be spun by the hands of spider men; the Divine MUST entered into it, and this "MUST" is what Peter, and other of Jesus' followers did not understand. Peter and the others could not sense that the Cross was only a means, not an end. That it was to be but a prelude to the Crown.)

Another very remarkable reference to His Divine Mission of saving men from sin was manifested to His Apostles on the Mount of Transfiguration. Three major scenes of His Life took place on mountains: Mount of the Beatitudes, the Mount of the Transfiguration and the Mount of Calvary. All three hills are related one to the other. The first was the proclamation of a message that would antagonize the world. The second was the revalation of His Glory through death; and the third, the supreme act of love, the ransom of men. The incident took place about a week after Peter had confessed that He was the son of the Living God. Our Lord took with Him three Apostles: Peter, James and John. Peter the "rock," James, the one destined to be the first Apostle Martyr, and John the visionary of the future glory of the Apocalypse. Undoubtedly, He chose these three because they most needed strength for the hour of trial.

Transfigured

On the mountain top, He became transfigured, His face shining as the sun, and His garments becoming white as snow. While there, Moses and Elias conversed with Him; Moses, the publisher of the Law, and Elias, the chief of the Prophets. His sacred Person seemed to be living with the Light of Glory flashing through the threads of His earthly raiment. It was not so much a light that was shining from without, as a light coming from the essential beauty of the Godhead within. It was not a miracle, but a witness of the abiding presence of Christ's Divinity. The glory that shone around Him as the Temple of God, was not something with which He was outwardly invested, but rather a natural expression of the inherent loveliness of "Him Who came down from Heaven." The wonder was not this momentary radiance around Him; it was rather that at all other times, it was repressed. As Moses, after communing with God, put a veil over his face to hide it from the people of Israel, so Christ had veiled His Glory in humanity. But for this brief moment, He turns it aside so that men may see it; the outgoing of these rays was the transitory proclamation to every human eye of the Son of Righteousness. In one brief moment, Heaven seemed to enshrine the earthly life, which was the Glory of God.

Attempt to Dissuade

Peter expressed his happiness that they were there. Attempting to capture this glory which was transient, he suggested building three tents or tabernacles there: one for Moses, one for Elias, and one for Christ. Just one week before, Peter was trying to find a way to glory without the Cross. Peter now once more attempts indirectly to dissuade Our Lord from going to Jerusalem to be crucified, and thus becomes the spokesman of all those who would enter into glory without purchasing it by self-denial and sacrifice. Peter with his impetuous character, feels that the glory which God brought down from the Heavens could be tabernacled among men, without ever purchasing it by the Cross of Calvary. But while Peter would have a glory without the Cross, Our Lord is speaking to Moses and Elias of His Death which He was to achieve at Jerusalem."

Cloud Over Disciples

His death on the Cross would not be a surprise or an accident, but a work which He came to accomplish and which would be a fulfillment of both the Law and the Prophets. In the moment of His greatest glory, He draws aside the effulgence of the Divine which is really His and shows Himself speaking of His death, His scourging and crowning with thorns and Crucifixion. At a moment when He seemed to be least a Man of Sorrows, He converses with the Law and the Prophets of the impending tragedy. The Divine Face which was now shining so brightly with the Light of God must be smitten and spit upon; the gossamer of light which now surrounds Him would have to be exchanged for being stripped naked on a Hill. The Sacred Glory, would have to be studded with thorns, woven by soldiers cursing the thorns that had so lightly pricked their thumbs. While the Apostles were standing at what seemed to be the very vestibule of Heaven, a cloud formed overshadowing them:

"And a voice came from the cloud

"This is My Beloved Son; To Him, then, listen."

Auditorium Issue

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In reference to the ruling of the Nebraska Supreme Court, Friday, March 26, 1954, in which it ruled that the auditorium be built on 15th and N Streets, I will make the following statement.

Point One is as follows: That the five judges of the Supreme Court have gone beyond their power to direct the law courts of Lancaster County and the City Council that the auditorium be built at 15th and N Streets.

Point Two is as follows: The Supreme Court of the State of Nebraska did not make it plain as to how much money should be spent at 15th and N Streets for an auditorium. In 1939 I happened to be one of the boosters for the auditorium from American Legion Post No. 3, and also a member of that committee. At that time there was only something over one million dollars voted by the taxpayers of Lincoln, of which $900,000 was earmarked for the auditorium at 15th and N, and of which $300,000 was earmarked to open 15th Street from the Capitol to the university campus.

Therefore, I feel that the Supreme Court should rule only on the $900,000 and not on the 1½ million dollars which was voted later in 1940 by the taxpayers, with no specific designations. At that time the people of Lincoln were told that they would have a chance to decide later if this money was to be spent together with the $900,000 for the purpose of building an auditorium at 15th and N Streets.

I have based my opinion on all this that the State Supreme Court has overruled the majority of the people and gone beyond its power, and beyond the constitution and by-laws has decided against the majority of the voteirs. And in my estimation, the Supreme Court's instructions to the law court were too brutal in wording. It should have been sufficient for any court when more than 4,000 signed the petition that it should be permitted for the issue of the auditorium to go back to the electors and let them decide where their money is going to be spent. I would be glad to answer any questions of any citizen who wishes to know the facts in this matter.

JAMES C. PETERS

Editor's Note: The Supreme Court has had Lincoln's auditorium issue before it twice. We are quite sure that the court was fully aware of all the facts and the law. Its finding is final.

Wisdom Questioned

Tobias, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There is now much discussion in Nebraska about taxation. Also, recently a day was designated as a time of prayer for peace. The development of the Tidelands Oil fields and mineral deposits would have furnished the state funds for many years without one cent of taxation. God gave men brains and instructed him to seek wisdom. The wisdom of anyone may rightfully be questioned who casts a yellow-dog ballot and thereafter asks God to perform miracles in the treatment of tables.

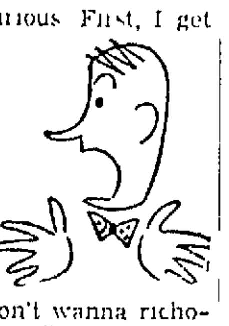
STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

In case medical science is interested, I am running around these days with a headful of music.

It is very curious. First, I get a complete recording of a man singing "The whole town's talking about the Jones boy, the Jones boy..."



After that shuts off, I get a dolly. She sings, "I don't wanna ricochet romance . . ."

I have kept this pretty much to myself. For I did not want the white coat boys to drop a net on me. I do not hear music, you understand. The tunes just keep running through my head and it is very disturbing. For I cannot stand either tune.

Well, this is not so unusual as you might think. Once I interviewed a gentleman who actually heard music. He was tuned in to a radio station. He thought it had something to do with the fillings in his teeth.

He never knew the name of the station. Because he did not pick up speaking. Just music. His teeth had an automatic cutout for the commercials.

I said I thought maybe we should examine this boon and see if we could hook it up to radio sets. A lot of people would be happy to have a built-in radio that cut out the commercials.

"I get the singing commercials," he said. "And this way I never hear the news."

He said it was a minor station apparently. He never could get the announcer so he didn't know. But it was mainly disc jockeys playing classical records.

He couldn't stand classical music. But he walked around all day with a mouthful of it. He was seriously considering getting a dentist to jerk a filled tooth to see if he could change the wave length.

"But I don't know which one to pull," he said.

My music is not exactly like that. I think mine has simply sneaked up on me through the car radio.

The tunes run through my head a good deal when I am in bed. I toss and turn while the whole town talks about the Jones boy. Spinning along 78 revolutions per minute from intro to the closing "and I happen to be in love. "

It also hits me while in the car. With the radio turned off. I roll down the highway. All of a sudden the music turns on. And the lady is wearing down my energy with "I don't wanna ricochet romance..."

I am pretty sure it is the car radio. Because it cuts out when I go through a tunnel. Just like the car radio does. Picks up exactly on beat as soon as I clear the tunnel.

I have tried all sorts of cures. I sing other songs. I turn up the car radio full volume. Behind the noise those two blasted tunes keep grinding on. Start to finish.

I remember "Sad Sam" Shockley used to get radio music. "Sad Sam" was quite a bit off his rocker. He was waiting for the State to give him a lethal whiff of gas for his part in an Alcatraz prison break.

The doctors said Sam was sane enough to make the legal payoff. But Sam said he was a walking radio. He sat around in death row and tuned in all sorts of programs.

When they sat him down in the big chair that last day, he seemed happy enough. He said he was getting a good program.

I am not sure just what to do about my affliction. The last thing I had like it was in my salad days. My school teacher was pointing out the breathing process. She said we just breathed automatically and otherwise we would die.

For the next two days I was very conscious of my breathing. I breathed by thinking about it. I was afraid I had lost the automatic touch and would surely die.

I have forgotten exactly what happened. But I think marble season came along and I forgot to breathe. Anyway it all turned out all right. And I am hopeful that somewhere I have an automatic shutoff on the music.

Triangle Killing Trial Scheduled

OMAHA (AP)—Robert Clyde Seaton, 36, will go on trial before a District Court jury May 31 on a second degree murder charge.

Seaton is accused of shooting Clifford K. Williamson, 31, Albertville, Ala., over the affections of their landlady, Mrs. Una Mae Mundell, 43-year-old divorcee.

Seaton, a construction worker, pleaded innocent at a District Court arraignment and was released on $7,500 bond.

Delicate Audrey Hepburn Seriously Ill

NEW YORK (INS)—Fragile Audrey Hepburn, under her grease-paint and gritting courage is a seriously ill woman.

She is suffering, International News Service learned, from anemia, a drastic loss of weight and severe emotional exhaustion.

Audrey Hepburn

The 24-year-old "wonder girl," who less than two weeks ago copped Hollywood and Broadway's top acting awards, has paid heavily for her honors.

She drives herself through the strenuous role in the Broadway hit "Ondine" but literally vanishes from sight at the final curtain into the protective guardianship of her mother and a doctor who has forced her to drop all other activities.

No one knows the address or phone number of the ailing Miss Hepburn or her titled European mother, Baroness Ella Van Heemstra. Even on their big night—the night Audrey shakily received her Hollywood "Oscar"—they withdrew alone, to drink warm champagne unspiced by the usual mob congratulations.

Even Audrey's press agent and the manager of "Ondine" don't know where they live. When business demands, Audrey phones them.

Intense Approach

Friends blame most of the delicate actress' physical troubles on her intense, driving approach to her career. She has been working constantly and conscientiously since she first came to Broadway, a 21-year-old unknown, less than three years ago.

Franklin Farm Site Of Irrigation Test Selected To Show Conversion

Farmers in the Bostwick Irrigation District in the Franklin County area will keep a close watch on neighbor O. H. Scheuneman's farming operation this year.

The Scheuneman farm has been selected as an irrigation development farm to demonstrate the latest methods of irrigation and the practical way of converting dry land to irrigation.

The farm was chosen by members of a technical committee representing the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, federal and state agricultural agencies, and the Bostwick Irrigation District.

70 More Farmers

With the construction of the Franklin Canal from the Harlan County Dam to Riverton, some 70 additional farmers in Franklin County have access to water for gravity type irrigation. More than 160 farmers already are irrigating. Of course, most of the farmers in the area are interested since the lack of rainfall prevents continuous high yields under dryland farming conditions.

These farmers may observe step by step the tremendous adjustments required in developing the 295-acre Scheuneman farm in the next three years. This is the plan of operation agreed upon by Scheuneman and the technical committee.

During the first year of operation, 119 acres will be placed under gravity irrigation and another 49 acres developed for sprinkler irrigation. All of the ditch-irrigated land will be planted to corn; the sprinkler irrigated area will be planted to 16 acres of milo, 20 acres of oats and clover, and 13 acres of brome grass.

14 Practices

Gravity irrigation is a brand new experience for the Scheunemans. During this crop year he must do 14 farm practices that will be completely new to him.

Scheuneman will carry out an extensive fertilizer program costing an estimated $1,200. Of the 119 acres to be planted to corn, 80 acres will be treated with benzene hexachloride, for the control of rootworms which completely destroyed a 20-acre field of corn for Scheuneman last year.

Another major change in his farming operation is the increase in operating expense. This year as compared to last his operating plan for this year indicates a cash outlay of more than $2,100 for these six items: fertilizer, labor, water assessment, seed corn, insecticide, and machine rental.

For these capital goods he will spend more than $2,500—tractor, fertilizer spreader, tubes, drops, check dams and additional storage.

The members of the technical committee responsible for selecting the Scheuneman farm for the irrigation development farm are: John Steele, chairman, extension irrigation specialist, College of Agriculture, Lincoln; Paul Fischbach, secretary, district extension irrigation engineer, Minden; A. W. Epp, agriculture economics department, College of Agriculture, Lincoln; H. F. Rhoades, agronomist, department of agronomy and western section of soil and water management, soil and water research branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Lincoln; Nat Tolman, chief of operations and maintenance, Bureau of Reclamation, Indianola; D. R. Vallicott, state conservation engineer; Dorsey Barnes, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Holdrege; and H. O. Thomas of the Bostwick Irrigation District.

The Scheuneman farm is the fourth such irrigation development farm to be established in the state by the co-operative agencies. The other three are located near Superior, Edison, and Sargent.

These co-operative agencies employ the district extension irrigation engineer who is a member of the staff of the extension service of the University of Nebraska, to act as their agent in all contacts with the cooperating farmers.

The co-operative agencies include the Agricultural Extension Service and Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Nebraska; Bureau of Reclamation; Soil Conservation Service; irrigation districts; and the soil and water conservation research branch, agriculture Research branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Scouts Plant Seedlings On Lake Washout

Lincoln Star Special

ST. PAUL, Neb.—Boy Scouts here, under the direction of Laverne Jacobsen and Frank Osterman, planted 1,200 plum and chokecherry seedlings in a washout southeast of Cotesfield.

The washout, on the Leonard Wells farm, was caused 40 years ago when a farmer drained a lake. Resulting floods and cave-ins have left a hole about one and one-half miles long, several rods across, and about 100 feet deep.

The seedlings were spotted in an attempt to stop further erosion and to provide a wildlife haven.

Scouts were lowered to the bottom by ropes to plant the seedlings.

The project had the sponsorship of the Howard County Soil Conservation district and the state game commission.

House Okays $364 Million Interior Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Tuesday passed by voice vote an appropriation bill to provide $364,337,989 for the activities of the Interior Department in the 12 months beginning July 1.

In three amendments, the House added a total of $977,000 more than was recommended by its appropriations committee.

As amended and sent to the Senate, the bill would provide for a reduction of $57,780,441 from the budget requests submitted by President Eisenhower.

The largest item in the bill, $114,479,700 for construction and rehabilitation of reclamation projects in the western states, was left unchanged from committee recommendations.

The measure also carries funds for such activities as administration of the national parks, bureau of mines, bureau of Indian affairs, geological survey and the office of territories.

By voice vote, the House approved an amendment by Rep. Bates (R-Mass) to restore $527,000 stricken by the committee from the budget estimate of $4,027,000 for fishery research by the fish and wildlife service.

Another amendment approved, by Rep. Knox (R-Mich), would earmark $250,000 of the research money for the Lamprey eel eradication program in the Great Lakes.

$350,000 Added

The House added $350,000 to the bill for the southwestern power administration (SPA) and struck out a committee-approved provision limiting the amount that could be spent for personnel by SPA.

Another $100,000 was added to the bill to reimburse the President's emergency fund for money spent last year in repairs to irrigation projects damaged by floods and storms.

Defeated was an amendment by Rep. Metcalf (D-Mont) to grant the fish and wildlife service an additional $1,200,000 for development of wildlife and waterfowl refuges.

Reformatory Bid Accepted By Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha City Council Tuesday voted unanimously to accept the Nebraska Reformatory's low bid for 1,000 one-way street signs.

City Attorney Edward Fogarty told the council there was no other choice.

The council had turned down the Reformatory bid of $1,330 last week after Gordon Preble, president of the Nebraska Federation of Labor, complained of unfair competition.

A letter from W. H. Diers, chairman of the state Board of Control, pointed out that under Nebraska statutes the city is compelled to buy the signs from the Reformatory and Fogarty agreed.

Dr. Lancaster Receives NU Teaching Award

First University of Nebraska Foundation award for distinguished teaching was presented Tuesday at the 26th annual honors convocation to Dr. Lane W Lancaster, professor of political science at the University for the past 24 years.

Selected as "representative of outstanding teaching at the University," Dr. Lancaster was given an inscribed medal and $1,000.

Dr. Lancaster was selected by the chancellor's award committee from nominations submitted by each college. The 1954 recipient is a member of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Putney Presents Award

In presenting the award, W. W Putney of Lincoln, vice president of the foundation, said:

"This new distinguished teaching award is made to a teacher who manifests clearly those elusive qualities which attach to intellectual leadership and the stimulation of learning.

"It goes without saying that within the company of the university's excellent teachers there are many who are qualified for recognition. To focus attention on the importance of good teaching, however, nominations had to be made and one final selection determined."

'Humble Approach'

Dr. Lancaster, who came to the University in 1930 from Wesleyan University, Middleton, Conn., teaches classes in American national government and politics, American political thought, and recent political theory.

In submitting Dr. Lancaster's name, his colleagues said:

"He has shown an attitude toward higher education which can best be described as the humble approach to learning. His students are not taught in a take-it-or-leave-it manner. They are encouraged to teach themselves, and they enter freely into the student-teacher relation.

"With the faculty, Prof. Lancaster has been equally respected as one who has a mastery of his subject—the field of political science. Yet he does not dogmatize; he stimulates. People leave him with the urge to think out issues for themselves. The general esteem of his colleagues may be measured by this fact: That he was chairman of the department of political science for seven years, against his own wishes.

Outstanding Teacher

"Prof. Lancaster would be embarrassed by being called the best teacher in the college of arts and sciences. It would be impossible for us to select such a person. But we are quite sure that after 24 years of teaching in this university, Prof. Lancaster has set a standard of performance we can properly exhibit as that of an outstanding teacher."

Dr. Lancaster was a visiting professor at Yale University in 1948-49, at the University of California at Berkeley in 1949-50, and at University of Hawaii in the summer of 1950.

He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and earned his Master of Arts at the University of Illinois and his Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania.

He is the author of "State Supervision of Municipal Indebtedness" and "Government in Rural America," as well as numerous articles in professional journals. He is a recognized authority in the field of local government.

The distinguished teaching medal was designed by David W. Seyler, assistant professor of art.

Substantial Flows From 4 States Highlight Oil Report

DENVER (AP) — Substantial flows from wells in four states highlighted the oil drilling picture in the Rocky Mountain-High Plains area in the past week.

Petroleum Information reported these developments:

Ohio Oil has decided to run another drill stem test of the 5,990-95-foot zone at the No. 1 Kenton Well in Kimball County, Nebraska. An earlier test at 5,983-90 feet recovered 1,680 feet of oil.

102 Barrels

Shell Oil had a flow of 102 barrels of oil per day at its No. 34-33 unit well in the Cabin Creek area of Montana's Fallon County. The production was from the Silurian formation at 8,357-557 feet.

With the well at 6,903 feet total depth, Ohio Oil's No. 2 Smith in Hot Springs County, Wyoming, registered 176 barrels per day from 6,690-6,700 feet.

British- American Oil Producing completed its No. 1-X Brainard well in Colorado's Logan County for a pump gauge of 221 barrels of oil per day from the "D" sand, topped at 4,856 feet. The operator has staked location in the area for a second well.

In Utah, D&N Mining completed its Cisco Townsite well in Grand County for a flow of 27 barrels of oil daily from the Mortison Sand.

South Dakota Test

A test of a Shell property in Harding County, South Dakota, recovered 115 feet of oil and gas cut mud at 8,668-85 feet in the Red River Sand.

Carter-Sinclair-Socony plans to plug back to the Morrison formation for further tests in its No. 1 Lockwood well in the Carsin area of Dunn County, North Dakota. The operators swabbed water at 10,410—50 feet.

In North Dakota's Bottinueau County, Cardinal Drilling has made location for the No. 1 Fraser well. This is midway between Madison Production in the Westhope and North Westhope fields.

Sun Oil-Eramont Petroleum obtained 90 barrels of oil, along with water and sediment, in 12 hours at its No. 1 Beagle Land and Livestock well in Richland County, Montana, the reporting service said.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

H-Blasts Haven't Changed Basic U.S. Defense Plans

Radford Testifies

WASHINGTON (INS)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford told Senate Armed Services Committeemen in a secret briefing that massive hydrogen bomb blasts in the Pacific have not changed basic U.S. defense plans.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Atomic Energy Committee Chairman Lewis L Strauss were closeted with the senators in a session which lasted two hours although Radford left early.

Committee chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), was asked whether anything in the Radford-Strauss testimony would alter Saltonstall's recent statement that the nation will have "an effective defense commensurate with the threat" of hydrogen and atomic weapons

Saltonstall replied: "I think I can say that Admiral Radford was asked that question during our briefing, and he answered that military planning already done will continue along similar lines.

No Record

"In other words, the hydrogen explosions in the Pacific have not changed our basic planning for defense"

The senator spoke cautiously about the H-bomb testimony, saying that no record was made of Radford's and Strauss's remarks

Saltonstall reported that the discussion covered "our ability to attack," and "our ability to conduct an effective continental defense," as related to the military manpower situation.

The committee chairman was asked whether his group found the testimony reassuring.

Calculated Risks

He replied: "We are living in an age when we must take calculated risks Speaking only for myself, I was reassured at least in the confidence I have in such leaders as Admiral Radford and Mr. Strauss They knew what they were talking about"

Sen John C Stennis (D-Miss), an Armed Services Committeeman, said earlier that the threat of saturation H-bomb warfare may open the way for international control of such terror weapons

He declared 'I think all the recent disclosures on the H-bomb tests are having an impact on Russia It isn't a case now of just one or two bombs dropped in the event of war. With the threat of heavy saturation from both sides the outlook for war can diminish."

President Eisenhower said much the same thing in his radio-television address to the nation Monday evening when he said the only threat stemming from the H-bomb is that Russia in a fit of "madness" might decide to use it aggressively.

Aftermath Of Truck Tire Fire

Blazing truck tires Tuesday afternoon threatened to ignite thousands of gallons of fuel oil on this Wynne Transport Company truck. Quick work by the Lincoln Fire Department, however, prevented the impending disaster. The driver, Dale Plummer, 26 of Omaha said he had left the truck and had been given a ride to town by Safety Patrolman R O Smith when two tires blew out. Smith and Plummer had just arrived at the city limits when they saw fire trucks heading to the west where the truck was parked off the highway. Returning they saw it was Plummer's truck The truck was about four miles west of town More than a mile of fire hose was strung out along the highway. (Star Staff Photo)

SEARS RESIGNS AS M'CARTHY PROBE COUNSEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel P. Sears, under fire on the ground that he is biased in favor of Sen. McCarthy, resigned as special counsel for the Senate subcommittee preparing to investigate the hot row between McCarthy and Army officials.

Samuel Sears

The Boston lawyer declared he was satisfied he could conduct the big probe impartially, but he felt it was "in the public interest" to withdraw in view of the questions raised about his past praise of McCarthy.

Sears handed in his resignation as members of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee met to consider allegations that Sears is a long-time admirer of the Wisconsin senator and therefore might not be accepted by the public as an impartial investigator.

His resignation was accepted unanimously. The vote was 6-0, the same as that by which he was appointed special counsel only last Thursday.

"I am completely satisfied in my own mind that I am thoroughly competent to conduct the pending inquiry objectively, impartially and in fairness to all," Sears said

"However, that is not the test

"The investigation must go forward not only with the full confidence of those involved but, perhaps more important, with absolute confidence of the people."

Acting chairman Mundt reported that Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) made the motion to accept Sears' resignation and that Sen. Symington (D-Mo) seconded it.

Mundt said the subcommittee will resume its search for a special counsel, interviewing one or two lawyers whom he did not identify.

It had been planned to start the investigation with public, televised hearings opening next Monday. Asked whether the start would now have to be delayed, Mundt said:

"The target date has not been changed, but foggy weather may delay it a little."

Sears' sudden withdrawal left the subcommittee just as far away as ever from the start of its investigation. Now a new special counsel must be found—and the senators no doubt will take special pains to find a man whose impartiality cannot be challenged.

Later, at an informal news conference in his hotel suite, Sears said his statement about never having taken a stand on McCarthy led to "a grievous misunderstanding.

"Absolutely," he told a group of reporters, he had intended that statement to indicate only that he had no preconceived notion about McCarthy's current feud with the Army officials, the one at issue in the probe he was going to conduct.

Sears said he can see now that his words were subject to misinterpretation in view of his past statements on the Wisconsin senator.

"I would be absolutely naive to think I was not on record on things I was on record with," he commented.

Reds Claim Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists have issued a map in an atlas which shows Kong Kong as part of China. This is one of the first Red claims on the British Crown Colony. The map was issued last August but the revised border was noted only recently by the Nationalist news agency, Central News. "Hong Kong and Kowloon are territories lost to us as a result of unequal treaties, and are still occupied by British imperialists as a political, commercial and military base for aggression against the Far East," the atlas says.

—the Only Gasoline Double Powered with

most powerful combination of chemical additives ever put into any gasoline to correct engine troubles...

2 TOP OCTANE

for greatest knock-free power—result of the world's most advanced refining developments!

*Laboratory controlled tests in passenger car engines showed increases in engine power output up to 25% when using New Mobilgas SPECIAL as compared to conventional premium gasoline.

Nearly half of today's cars are losing Power and Mileage—and no single chemical added to gasoline can prevent these losses... only a compound of all the needed additives combined with top octane can prevent such waste!

NOW, MOBIL POWER COMPOUND

An exclusive development of Socony-Vacuum laboratories brings amazing power-saving and mileage-saving benefits for every motorist.

RELIEVES PRE-IGNITION PING

Pre-firing of the combustion mixture is a major cause of power waste and damage to engine parts. Mobil Power Compound's amazing chemical additive, RT 125, quells and controls glowing and fiery particles which are responsible for this common trouble.

CORRECTS SPARK PLUG MISFIRING

due to injurious combustion deposits. Mobil Power Compound gives new positive control of such deposits—"takes the wraps off" your spark. It acts to increase engine power—increase the effective life of spark plugs up to three times.

CONTROLS STALLING OF ENGINE

SOME SIGNS NEVER FAIL

THERE'S a new moon—in case you are interested, and according to our almanac it's a dry one—But we don't take too much stock in the old saw about "all signs fail in dry weather," because we've been reading all of the signs that pertain to future activity and things look exceptionally promising with no hint of falling by the wayside.

IF you ever have wondered how an opera star spends a spare moment or two when she is a long way from home, we have the answer. She sends postcards. At least Rise Stevens does. Miss Stevens who was to have appeared as a Lincoln Symphony Association guest artist in March, sent postcards to Del Lieneman, manager of the Symphony, and also to Arnott Folsom, the Symphony Association president, from Milan, Italy where she created the role of Motari at the LaScala Opera House, the first American, incidentally, ever to have been invited to create a role in a new opera.

On the cards Miss Stevens said:

"Best wishes from Milan, and many thanks for making my success at LaScala possible."

The Lincoln Symphony Association released Miss Stevens from her March date in Lincoln so that she could accept the invitation from LaScala, and we think her thanks were most considerate.

However, the attractive opera star will be in Lincoln on May 4.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

Everybody Loves It

One of the universal food favorites is shrimp—big shrimp, little shrimp, fresh or frozen. If you want to give your guests—or your family—something utterly delicious, and a dish they long will remember, serve them Corn Fried Shrimp—It's easy, it takes just four minutes—and it is exceedingly tasty—Here is how you do it:

CORN FRIED SHRIMP

2 pounds shrimp
1½ cups corn meal
3 teaspoons salt
1 egg
⅓ cup milk

(If self-rising corn meal is used, omit 3 teaspoons salt.)

Wash uncooked shrimp well, remove shell and black vein. Drain well, dip in salted corn meal, then in slightly beaten egg mixed with milk, and again in salted corn meal. Fry in deep fat heated to 375 F. until golden brown, about 4 minutes. Serve with cocktail sauce. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Pamper Your Feet

By JOHN POWERS

Yesterday I told you about fashions with leg and foot interest. Now let's plunge, feet first, into plans for grooming legs and feet so that you can wear those new fashions — and the shorter hemlines — attractively.

Your feet work hard for you, and they deserve as much pampering as your hands. Give yourself a pedicure as frequently as you manicure.

Soak your feet in warm water then scrub them with a stiff brush to stimulate circulation and remove dead cuticle and calluses. (If calluses are pronounced, use a pumice.) Dry briskly, with particular care around nails and between the toes.

Nail Care

Thumb on instep, fingers on sole, massage each foot with cream. Rub oil around the nails and push back the cuticle with a towel. Don't clip the cuticle if you can possibly avoid it.

Cut the nails straight across and not so short that the soft flesh is exposed. Curving down into the corners is simply asking for ingrown nails. Now wash away the oil, and file off the rough edges with an emery board.

If you polish your toenails, use a shade that matches your fingernails. Cotton balls between your toes will avoid smudging. Polish over the end of the nails, as this smoothness protects your stockings.

Like the rest of your body, your feet need relaxation — shoes off, feet up — and exercise. In the summer, go barefoot on sandy beaches; otherwise, exercise barefoot at home.

Do, of course, wear shoes that fit. Stand and walk correctly. Good posture helps to keep feet straight.

Leg Lines

Legs benefit, too, from good posture, exercise and relaxation. One good tip for keeping them shapely is to relax, whenever possible, with feet higher than head.

You can slim your thighs and calves with massage, this way: lie on your back and lift one leg high; gently pull with your hands on the leg muscles, working them in circular motion. Then do the same with the other leg.

To improve calves, try this exercise: stand behind a chair holding onto its back. Feet together, slowly lower yourself to a deep knee bend, staying on the balls of your feet and holding your back straight. Don't squat on your heels—this is not the idea. Balancing in the raised heel position strengthens the muscles of the legs and slims their contours.

Democratic Leaders Asked To Keep Out Of California Politics

Mitchell Blasted By State Chief

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National Democratic leaders were asked to keep their noses out of California politics—and let James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert L. Condon run their own congressional races.

In response to a statement by National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell that the national party will not support Roosevelt or Condon, State Democratic Chairman George Miller Jr. declared:

"Mitchell would do well to keep his nose out of California politics. We're not much interested in what he approves of. The Democrats in Roosevelt's and Condon's districts asked them to run and it's up to the voters to decide at the primary. I see evidences that the climate in Washington is such the boys are afraid of their own shadows. The Democratic level in Washington is one-quarter Stevenson, one-quarter Dixiecrat and one-half scared."

Roosevelt currently is involved in a sensational separate maintenance suit with his wife, Romelle. She has accused him of infidelities with 12 women. Roosevelt has denied the accusations and the case is awaiting trial. He said one of the reasons he is continuing in the race for nomination in the 26th congressional district at the June 8 primary is to "vindicate" his name.

No Decision

Rep. Condon of Walnut Creek, in northern California, is seeking re-election in the 6th congressional district. He was barred by the Atomic Energy Commission from a Nevada test last May 7. Mitchell said the AEC has not lifted this ban and that a Senate-House Committee, before which Condon had a hearing, has made no decision in the matter. Condon, under oath, has denied that he is a Communist. He called the ban "stale political charges."

Meantime, Joseph T. De Silva, head of the big Los Angeles local of the AFL Retail Clerks Union, announced that he has resigned from the National Democratic Party Advisory Council because there is "a conspiracy to wreck the name of Roosevelt."

Roosevelt said acceptance of Mitchell's suggestion for him to withdraw would "open the door to political blackmail against every controversial political figure and would result in McCarthy-type smears which can only violate the fundamental American principle that a man is innocent until proven guilty, whether in or out of public office."

The race in the 26th Congressional District is wide open, with 10 candidates seeking nomination.

Completion Of Reorganization New FHA Chief's First Task

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

William O. Collett, North Platte businessman named to succeed Ernest Frisch as state director of the Farmers Home Administration here April 1, took over full duties Tuesday.

Frisch, the state's first state FHA director, retired after 19 years in federal service, first as state supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loans service beginning in 1935 and as FHA director beginning with the agency in 1946.

Collett, a WWI veteran, engaged in banking in Nebraska in 1918. He ran the Brady State Bank from 1929 until 1947; was secretary of the North Platte Chamber of Commerce until 1951, and from then until his appointment as FHA director he operated a real estate agency in North Platte.

WILLIAM O. COLLETT

Cut Costs

Collett's first task as state director is completion of the reorganization of the state FHA set-up under an administration economy directive. It will reduce the number of state districts from 32 to 29 and reduce the agency staff from 84 to 72 employees. He said the reorganization would cut administration costs approximately $40,000 annually.

Frisch, who is remaining on briefly to smooth the way for the new director, said he looked forward to full retirement, "when I will be able to see all the baseball I can look at and catch a lot of fish."

He is a member of the State Highway Commission and will continue that connection.

Collett said no change of agency policy is contemplated beyond some reduction of service that might be required by the new economy measures.

Water Loans

The agency does the bulk of its business lending to clients starting farm operations although in recent years it has made $485,000 in water facility loans aiding the state's well irrigation program.

However, funds are presently exhausted and the aid will not continue unless Congress makes new appropriations.

The state FHA currently has 7,000 loans of all types active.

Frisch said repayments had been on a high level.

"Interest returns alone have greatly more than offset loan losses," Frisch said.

Otoupalik Retail Beer License Suspended

The retail beer license of Edward L. and Lucille G. Otoupalik has been suspended for a period of 14 days, the State Liquor Commission announces. They were charged with sales to minors on Feb. 20 and March 11, and failure to use diligence to determine age.

The commission dismissed another charge of sale to a minor due to insufficient proof of violation.

State Needs Moisture For Wheat

Southwestern Area Condition Is Better

Nebraska's winter wheat crop needs moisture badly, according to the state-federal crop reporting service.

The moisture need extends throughout every area of the state, although snow in the Panhandle brightened the outlook there.

In Southwestern Nebraska, Keith, Perkins and Chase Counties, wheat is in much better condition than in the other counties of this district, the service says. "The damage was quite severe in the remaining counties of this district" and much of the wheat is being abandoned, according to the service.

Spotted

Wheat is spotted in Central and Southeastern Nebraska, although the condition of the wheat is better in the southeastern area.

Cold weather and snow in the northern portions prevented farm field work during the past week. The northern half of the state received more than normal precipitation during March, making the soil too wet for field operations. Very little spring grain has been sown in the northern section.

Most of the seeding done is in the southern half of Nebraska. The crop service reported that about 41 per cent of the oats and barley have been seeded.

Reports on the farm labor supply indicate that permanent farm hands are in demand.

Some counties report alfalfa, hay and pasture greening up but there has been little evidence of growth in most counties. March weather was too cool in the northern part of the state while southern Nebraska suffered from a lack of moisture.

Further losses of calves were reported from the northern sections and some losses of pigs. The crop service said that the pig crop, in general, has been favorable.

Large areas of Nebraska will have a surplus of hay but local areas in the south are short. Pasture has been slow in starting due to the chilly weather and lack of moisture.

Precipitation reports are as follows:

State To Try For West Industries

The Nebraska Resources Division is transferring its effort to attract new industry to Nebraska from the Eastern states to the West Coast for awhile

Division Chief C. V. Price leaves Friday for a three-week scouting trip to California. He will spend a week in Los Angeles and a week in San Francisco.

The same advertising pattern will be used as has been used in Eastern cities in the past with considerable success.

Advertisements outlining Nebraska's advantages as a place for trouble-free operations for manufacturing will be placed in the Los Angeles and San Francisco newspapers. The advertisements will tell where Price can be contacted in the two cities to answer inquiries.

Price said he has plans also to follow up some contacts made previously by Nathan Gold, president of the Nebraska Resources Foundation and a member of the State Resources Committee. Gold spent some time recently in California exploring the possibilities.

The "best bet," Price said, is the possibility of interesting aircraft and electronics firms on the West Coast in setting up plans in Nebraska.

Congested labor conditions in both the East and Far West work to Nebraska's advantage in seeking to attract new industry, Price explained.

"We're farther from the big markets, but manufacturers are willing to give something in the way of transportation to gain a lot by way of trouble-free operation," he commented.

Hogan Can't Be Discounted In Masters Tourney

Ben Has Practiced For Week On Augusta Links

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP)—If you discount Ben Hogan's chances for an unprecedented repeat victory, about half the 80 golfers in the field automatically become eligible for selection as possible winners in the 18th Masters Tournament.

Ben Hogan

But you never can discount Hogan. That's one of the things that makes picking a winner difficult.

There probably hasn't been a time since the Masters was instituted in 1934 that one man has dominated the field the way Hogan does now.

Ben hasn't been out grubbing for the weekly purses like most of the 60 or so professionals who'll start play Thursday in this prestige-loaded tournament. That might count against anyone else, but Hogan has his own ways of sharpening his game for competition.

He has been here more than a week, practicing diligently over the big, beautiful Augusta National course.

The strictly unofficial reports of his scores on practice rounds indicate he's shooting the same kind of golf that he did a year ago when he set the tournament record of 274.

But no player ever has won the Masters twice in succession. And only one, Ben's friend and biographer, Jimmy DeMaret, ever has achieved the third victory Hogan is aiming for.

In addition, the winter tournament records indicate there are a good many pros and even some amateurs in the field who can score the 72-hole total of 280 that ordinarily is the winning score.

Since the winter tour started at Los Angeles in January, only one player has won two tournaments. He is little Bob Toski of Livingston, N. J., who only got his Masters invitation a couple of days ago.

He qualified because of his low scoring average for the tour.

All but two of the other winter winners are on hand, including lanky Dave Douglas, Doug Ford, Fred Haas, Chandler Harper, Dutch Harrison and 1953 amateur champion Gene Littler. They all must be conceded a chance, along with such noted non-winners as Cary Middlecoff, Al Besselink, Jack Burisci, PGA Champion Walter Burkemo, Demaret, Marty Furgol, Ted Kroll, Ed Oliver, Johnny Palmer, and by no means the least, Sam Snead.

Snead is another player like Hogan who never can be counted out, even though he isn't "tournament hard" now. The semi-retired slugger from West Virginia hasn't played much competitive golf this winter, but he went down to Panama in January and fired a winning 271.

Athletes Honored At NU Convocation

Among those honored at the special convocation at the University of Nebraska Tuesday were six athletes.

Cliff Dale, senior track star from Falls City, was the winner of the C. W. Boucher Memorial Award for athletes. The award is presented annually to the senior athlete who achieves the highest scholastic standing during his years at NU.

Other scholastic honors went to David Gradwohl, Lincoln swimmer, also a senior; John Haessler, Leshara baseballer, a freshman; Bob Berkshire Omaha track ace; Al Blessing, Ord golfer, and Ira Epstein, Omaha gymnast.

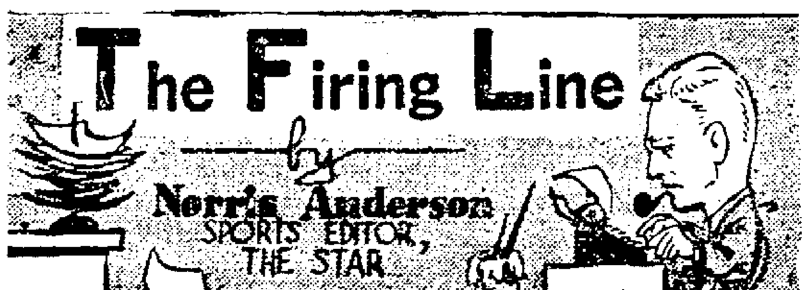
Lovercheck Paces Clay Center Win

Lincoln Star Special

HASTINGS — Clay Center, thanks to Walton Lovercheck rambled to an easy win here in a triangular track meet Tuesday.

Clay Center racked up 69 points, Hastings St. Cecelia got 52½ and Harvard totalled 26½.

Lovercheck led the Clay Center effort with firsts in the 60-yard high hurdles, the high jump and shot put and tied for first in the pole vault.



While dwelling in the tepee of the Lincoln Chiefs these past weeks, other sundry items have piled up along The Firing Line.

Dutch Meyer, the former Wesleyan and Nebraska gridder and an all-round good fellow, writes from Nederland, Colo., High where he's coaching: "Saw Jim Buchanan (ex-Husker cage ace) when he played with the 31st Infantry team out of Camp Carson here recently. The army team, sparked by Buchanan and a number of former Big Ten players, won over a team made up of former Colorado U. performers. Buchanan looked darned good." . . . Dutch, from Nederlands, saw the game from a privileged viewpoint—he was one of the referees.

Dutch Meyer

Col. Walt Black of Lincoln pens from Savannah, Ga.: "Am doing a few days of active duty again. Since Offutt Field is going to hold sports car races again, July 4, a few of us came down here to see how they do it. Over 50,000 saw the sports car races here today."

Harold Mathews, Lincoln resident and former boxing favorite, called to talk over the career of Frank Larrabee, another ex-Capital City battler, who recently died of a heart attack in Denver. Harold recalled how Larrabee had met Jimmy Black, King Tut and some of the better featherweights in his day.

For a batting order, abounding in power, we dug up the 1949 lineup of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast Conference. Bob Wilson was leadoff, followed by Minnie Minoso, Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, Luke Easter, Max West, Jack Graham, Vince Story and Whitey Wietelmann. Minoso (White Sox) and Simpson and Easter (Cleveland) have since blossomed into big league stars. Wietelmann, skipper of the Lincoln Chiefs, was on the way down after a hustling major league career. Graham and West jointly produced over 80 home runs that year.

What they are saying:

Jack Dempsey: "I had only one good fight in my life and that was when I beat Jess Willard for the title. I never was that sharp again. I went back fast after I laid off two years and my fight with Tom Gibbons was horrible. All it did was keep me from getting knocked out by Luis Firpo in the first round—which I should have been." (You're still The Champ with us, Jack.)

Mal Whitfield, the track star: "My formula is run as fast as you can and as long as you can—then sprint the rest of the way." (Just watch out for the radar areas, son.)

Eddie Stanky, Cardinal skipper: "Speed and a proper amount of daring can't be overemphasnzed with any club. A safety-first club is a second-division club." (Okay, Eddie, we dare you to catch Brooklyn.)

Tom Yewcic, Michigan State quarterback in the Rose Bowl game: "We had such a great freshman squad this past year that our varsity had to pass to gain ground on it." (As they say, "Them that has—gets.")

Paul Waner, the old batting star: "Last year, I worked on Richie Ashburn (Tilden, Neb.) and he brought his average up 48 points over the previous season. I worked on Earl Torgeson and he came up 44. With the Braves, I had Eddie Mathews and Jack Dittmer. Mathews jumped 60 points and Ditmer 73. The Dodgers gave me Gil Hodges and he climbed 48 points." (Note to Bill Herring: Is Mr. Waner available for work on Moose Womack?)

Sweetwater Clifton, the pro basketball star: "How did I get my first name. Will I shower twice a day—even when we're not playing—and spray myself head to foot with imported toilet water we brought back from those European summer tours with the Globetrotters." (Okay, we surrender.)

Chiefs Get Shortstop, Camp Ends

Anderson, Neill Hit In Last Corpus Drill

Lincoln Star Special

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — Young Johnny Sanderson, a hard-socking Negro shortstop, was snatched up by Business Manager Bill Herring Tuesday and will join the Chiefs in Temple, Tex., Friday.

Sanderson, optioned to the Lincoln club by Oklahoma City, hit .305 last season with the Pampa club of the Class C West Texas-New Mexico loop. He was at bat 380 times, scored 81 runs, banged out 116 hits for 189 total bases. He hit 17 home runs and batted in 91 tallies in 98 games.

That was the only news concerning playing personnel as the Chiefs went through their final workout here Wednesday and Thursday nights Whitey Wietelmann's charges are booked for games with the Class B Corpus Christi Big State Leaguers at Sinton, Tex., 28 miles southwest of here.

Andy Bush and Charley Griffith are slated to start the two games against Billy Capps' Clipper gang.

"If none of these shortstops Herring is booking in here can hit you can bet a solid buck I'll be in there." Wietelmann declared as he surveyed his squad go through a long batting drill.

"As a matter of fact I intend to play a hundred games somewhere and the full season if I have to." Whitey emphasized. The Chiefs looked better Tuesday. They had more snap to their infield work and both Tom Neill and Andy Anderson clouted several balls over the right field wall.

Wietelmann indicated that he would line up his batting order against the Clippers with Dusty Rhodes leading off and playing shortstop followed by Fred Hancock. 2b; Gordon Bragg, cf; Andy Anderson, rf; Tom Neill, lf; Larry Neal, 3b; Hal Pfeiffer, 1b; Ralph Kennedy or Frank Calo, c. and Bush, p.

If Capps should start a southpaw Red McQuillen would be in right field with Anderson moving over to left. Noel Oquendo, the Cuban chucker who was expected last Saturday, has failed to put in his appearance to date. He hurled for Wietelmann's Wichita Falls club last season.

The Chiefs will pull stakes here Friday morning moving up to Bill Hayes' home city of Temple for an arc light tussle that night. Successive exhibition contests with Williamsport, Pa., at Huntsville; Tyler at Tyler; the newly organized Blackwell Western Association club at Blackwell, and then the Wichita Indians at Salina, Kan., next Tuesday concludes the slate.

Wietelmann's club will arrive in Lincoln some time Wednesday. They will travel by automobile.

Huskers To Leave For Baseball Swing Through South Today

In better physical shape this season than in previous years, Nebraska's Cornhuskers leave for a six-game baseball tour through Oklahoma and Texas Wednesday evening.

Coach W. D. (Tony) Sharpe has named a 19-man squad for the trip. The Husker diamond warriors depart from Lincoln by bus following Wednesday afternoon's workout.

They play the University of Tulsa at Tulsa, Okla., Friday and Saturday; the University of Houston at Houston, Tex., next Monday and Tuesday, and the University of Texas at Austin, Tex., next Wednesday and Thursday.

Making the trip will be:

Pitchers—Dick Geier, Lincoln; Fran Hofmaier, Crofton; Don Keiser, Millard; Ray Novak, Omaha; Jerry Shaw, Mitchell, S. D.; Brian Sievers, North Platte, and Charles Wright, Scottsbluff.

Catchers—Murray Backhaus, Millard; Bob Lohrberg, Lincoln.

Infielders—Norman Coufal, David City; Virgil Gottsch, Elkhorn; Claire (Pat) Mallette, Uehling; Dirkes Rolston, Forsyth Mont.; Fred Seger, Omaha.

Outfielders—Don Becker, Lincoln; Jim Cederdahl, Lincoln; Don Brown, Waterloo, Ia.; Bill Giles, Alliance; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses.

Student Manager Bill Nelson, Millard, also will make the trip.

Mallette, the Huskers' No. 1 first sacker who has been down with the mumps, may not leave with the squad Wednesday. If not, he will join the team later. Giles is expected to open at first base in Mallette's place.

Novak, a righthander who came through with a 6-0 record last season, is slated to pitch the opener at Tulsa; and Sharpe plans to come back in the second game with Hofmaier, a southpaw.

Top battle for a position in the starting lineup is at shortstop where Coufal, a sophomore, may root Rolston, a regular last year, from the post. Should that happen, Rolston probably will be transferred to the outfield.

Looking good at the plate in recent practice sessions have been Korinek, Seger and Gootsch, the latter Nebraska's batting champion in 1953.

Sharpe lists the following batting order for Friday's season opener:

Rolston, Seger, Gottsch, Cederdahl, Giles, Korinek, Becker, Backhaus and Novak.

Well, from the reactions of my fellow citizens it's obvious that Spring is with us again.

Nobody's ever found a real cure for Spring fever . . . and when the season's on nobody seems to care much. It's the time of year when you start out having big dreams for the future while your body feels about as energetic as an order of spaghetti.

Your optimism is exceeded only by your lethargy. The sap is stirring in the trees, and Cupid is out stirring up the raw materials for the annual June trek up the nation's bridal paths to the old hitching post. Spring is a state of mind as much as a season . . and anybody who isn't conscious of it ought to be perched on top of a marble horse mounted on a granite pedestal. Sure feels good, doesn't it?

Raschi, Miller Stop White Sox, 9 To 2

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Vic Raschi and Stu Miller combined pitching talents Tuesday and Rip Repulski and Stan Musial bat power as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Chicago White Sox 9-2.

Raschi and Miller allowed seven hits between them, Raschi starting the exhibition game and leaving after six innings with an 8-1 lead.

Repulski started the 13-hit Card assault by socking Sox starter Jocko Thompson's third pitch over the left field wall. It was Rip's fourth homer of the spring.

Musial got his roundtripper with two men on base during the four-run St. Louis sixth. Luis Aloma, who relieved Thompson in the fourth, was the victim. Gus Keriazakos came in in the seventh for Chicago and finished the game, allowing one run in the eighth.

Duties Of Religion, Educators Supplementary—Rabbi Kripke

Rabbi Myer S. Kripke of Beth El Synagogue, Omaha, told a meeting of the Central Association of Physical Education of College Women at the Lincoln Hotel Tuesday night that the duties of religion and the duties of educators supplement each other.

A group of 75 women educators heard Rabbi Kripke's speech at a banquet which ended the two-day conference. His topic was "The Philosophy of Education as a Religious Ideal."

Rabbi Kripke defined the function of education as "to help the growing of a helpless young animal into a happy, moral and efficient human being." He stated this as a definition given by educator John Dewey.

"The task of educators may not be identical with the tasks of synagogues and churches," Rabbi Kripke said, "but the duties of the two supplement each other.

"The educator may be a specialist in a relatively narrow field . . .but all who influence the minds and help to develop the physical strength of young people are preparing them for the duties of life."

Gladys Swanson, College of St. Scholastica, presided and the toastmistress was Edna Willis, University of Colorado. The University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers under the direction of David Foltz entertained the group.

Hanses Win; Scribe Loses

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Are Lincoln wrestling fans the most violent in the United States?

The author of this article massages a bump on his head and casts a vote for the Fairgrounds Arena fans.

Tuesday night at the Arena the sport writer caught something hard on the head as he watched Hans Schmidt and Hans Hermann leave the mat after winning a doubtful victory over two of the most popular wrestlers in the area, Jack Pesek and Pat O'Connor.

Pesek and the Irishman from New Zealand had just lost a team match to Hans and Hans, the two German Continentals who have constructed a reputation of unpopularity which probably makes Joe Dusek turn slightly green.

Hermann provided the wisdom for this pair when he tripped O'Connor in the third fall and provided Schmidt with a simple fall at 9:07.

Hermann reached through the ropes and tripped Pat when Referee Joe Krejci couldn't see the Prussian in operation.

Krejci ruled that O'Connor had been pinned, gave the match to the Germans and set off a barrage of paper cup tosses which battered many of Prof. Adam Krieger's spectators.

The Hanses had won the first fall in 20:50 with Hermann using his Prussian Strangle Hold. O'Connor came back for a 15 minute fall in the second round.

The first match went to a tie with Ivan Rasputin and Dave Simms splitting two falls in 26:00 and 9:07.

Eddie Robinson, New York Yankee first baseman, looks over a paper with nurse Jane Henry in a Greensboro, N.C., hospital Tuesday after he had been hospitalized with a kidney ailment. He was soon discharged and rejoined his teammates. Two other Yankees, Gil McDougald and Allie Reynolds, were slightly hurt in practice for an exhibition game. (AP Wirephoto)

Chuck Davey Favored Whip Ex-British Champ

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Chuck Davey Tuesday ruled a strong favorite to win his 10-round nationally televised fight Wednesday night against Gerry Dreyer, former British Empire welterweight champion.

But local boxing followers believed Davey, the quick-stepping left hander, may have all he can handle and more when he faces Dreyer in Oakland Auditorium.

Speed and boxing skill favor Davey, the ex-Michigan State fighter. But in workouts here, Dreyer appeared the stronger of the two.

In a final workout, Davey concentrated in throwing his straight left to the body as he darted in and out.

Dreyer, from Pretoria, South Africa, went through a stiff drill with the veteran Bert Lytell, who outweighed him 15 pounds. Dreyer kept in close and was effective against the cagey Lytell.

Ring followers declared that if Dreyer was able to make Davey fight at close quarters he might beat him.

Cuts could prove a problem for Davey, as in his second meet with Carmen Basilio. Davey won the decision but both eyes were so lacerated that he was sidelined for a long time.

Davey's record shows 45 contests, with only four losses and two draws. Dreyer has had 42 fights, winning 36, losing 4 and with 2 draws. Davey has 26 knockouts and Dreyer 19.

The fight will be televised over CBS at 10 p.m. EST. The local area will not be blacked out. The preliminaries will go on after the main event.

California's scoring system is known as the "split 11" system. An even round would give each fighter 5½ points. The winner of a round could receive 6 or more points, and the lower 5 or as little as 1.

There is no 8-count rule in main events, but the count is compulsory in preliminary events. California does not have a rule saying a fighter loses automatically if he is knocked down three times in a round.

Tribute Is Paid To 434 Students At U Of N Honors Convocation

Education Chief Hope—McCain

The University of Nebraska's 26th annual honors convocation Tuesday paid tribute to 434 students for outstanding scholarship.

Individually honored on the stage of the Coliseum were 48 seniors possessing superior scholarship

Dr. James A. McCain, Kansas State College president, gave the principal address on "The Premium on Excellence"

Selleck Presides

Acting Chancellor John K. Selleck presided. The University symphony orchestra, directed by Prof Emanuel Wishnow, furnished music.

Rolland W. Ahrens of Lincoln received the C. W Boucher memorial senior award, given to the senior with the highest scholastic average in four years His average was 94 5 per cent

Donald P. Geesaman of Ft Calhoun received the C W Boucher memorial senior ROTC award, and Clifford H. Dale of Falls City, the C. W. Boucher memorial senior athletic award

The Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key, awarded annually to the graduate of the Business Administration College with the highest four-year average, went to Robert L. Baskins of North Platte

Education Chief Hope

"Professional and scientific education" is the nation's chief hope in the world-wide struggle against Communism, Dr. McCain said

'Not only is our self-interest involved, but the survival of our Western civilization as well," he stated

Dr McCain said any nation has but two sources of strength in such a struggle, its people and its natural resources He pointed out that the Soviet is rich in most of the basic resources, seriously deficient in only a few.

Equal To Challenge

The U S cannot compete with USSR on numbers of people so 'our chief hope, then, is the quality of the American people Fortunately, that quality today measures up to the challenge"

Dr. McCain said our freedom and our system of universal education "count in large measure" for the superior quality of our citizens

He warned that we are threatened with the loss of both these advantages by those so obsessed with the fear of Communism that they would restrict the liberty of others and by the fact that only 40 per cent of the top third of the nation's high school graduates are earning a college degree

Following is the complete list of students honored for scholastic achievements

Summerfield's New Postal Plan Blasted

The new job and salary bill proposed by Postmaster General Summerfield has come in for sharp criticism from the officials of both the National and Nebraska Federations of Post Office Clerks

In a statement issued by Leonard D Focht president of the state organization John W Wright, president of local 112 of the national federation of Post Office Clerks, and by Rudolph Anderson, national state representative of the national federation, the proposal was scored on four points

The federation officials charged that "It provides wage increases of only $10 to $100 a year for the overwhelming majority of postal employees, while giving $1 030 a year to highly paid officials" In the case of a few highly paid officials, they stated, the increase amounts to as much as $5 150 a year"

They also asserted that Postmaster General Summerfield would be given "dictatorial power" under the proposal, with authority to downgrade jobs and lower salaries by being granted "complete control over positions and wages"

Thirdly the statement continued, the proposal "virtually closes important supervisory positions to career employees allowing the appointment of people outside the postal service to these jobs. We are convinced that these jobs would then become the target of political patronage as postmasterships are today"

The proposal would also allow no appeal from the Postmaster General's administration of the act, the federation officials charged.

"It should be significant that more than 110 witnesses testified against the proposed salary plan, while only three, including Mr. Summerfield, supported it before the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee

"We are united with other postal employee organizations in support of the Withrow Bill H R 2344 calling for a flat $800 increase for all postal employees as the only salary plan designed to give equitable treatment to all employees"

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

In our own Park Row set we never strike a lady. First.

So we suspend these alien Lochinvars 30 days without alimony. All the ladies in the main bouts are rich beyond the clutch of avarice. At the debutantes' brawl this spring the debbies are classified by weights, reach and kayos.

Otherwise the romantic glimmer in your glim may be a bit glum in the glamour. If you have to grab a title that way why not go after the Marquis of Queensbury who wrote the rules?

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Municipal Judge Raymond French looked at Raymond French and remarked "This is the first time I ever had a namesake before me."

Citizen French, no relative, leaned forward and inquired "What did you say, Judge?"

"I said," the judge responded, "$100 for driving while drunk."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS
By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

(Distributed by International News Service)

Been keeping score on our international romances. And find the knights in shining armor hang the shiners on their girl friends.

Bugs Baer

Indicating it's the gals who should be wearing the armor.

Five of our loveliest ladies spend most of the winter looking like one-eyed raccoons.

Looked up Emily Post on the subject, but couldn't find it in in the fine print on the manly art of womanly defense.

Emily does say when a gentleman offers a lady his arm he shouldn't use the avalanche back-swing.

Nor should the wedding chimes be rung on the gong in Madison Square Garden.

In addition to the [illegible] of engaged gals we are morose to relate that one gal had her pearly teeth shucked like oysters, another was booted out of a taxi-cab and a third had her ankle busted on her honeymoon.

So many dames are being slugged on Park Avenue a veteran dowager had shatter-proof glass put in her lorgnette.

In our own Park Row set we never strike a lady. First.

So we suspend these alien Lochinvars 30 days without alimony. All the ladies in the main bouts are rich beyond the clutch of avarice. At the debutantes' brawl this spring the debbies are classified by weights, reach and kayos.

If its love at first sight be sure you can see out of both eyes.

Otherwise the romantic glimmer in your glim may be a bit glum in the glamour. If you have to grab a title that way why not go after the Marquis of Queensbury who wrote the rules?

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Municipal Judge Raymond French looked at Raymond French and remarked "This is the first time I ever had a namesake before me."

Citizen French, no relative, leaned forward and inquired "What did you say, Judge?"

"I said," the judge responded, "$100 for driving while drunk."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stocks Hit Slide, 3-Point Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was beaten down hard Tuesday in a sharp selling wave, but it snapped back from its lows with vigor before the close.

Brokers in Wall Street said that concern over developments in the Indo-Chinese War was responsible for the selling. Whether that was in the minds of all sellers is debatable, but at least the war in Indo-China was the excuse for the sudden dumping of stocks.

At the close, key areas displayed frequent losses of one to three points. Gains were small.

The market last Thursday reached a high for the year, and in the next two days hesitancy was apparent everywhere. Many were lured into the market by the continually mounting prices.

Selling developed slowly Tuesday until the fifth hour when it mounted in intensity. When the shower of selling orders was swept aside, the market began a slow and spotty rebound that brought it well up from the lows at the close.

Hardest hit were the aircrafts, chemicals and the railroads, but also lower were steels, motors, rubbers, distillers, coppers, utilities, oils, airlines, electronics and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 30 cents at $116.60. That is the third biggest fall of the year for the average. The industrial component fell $1.60, railroads were down 80 cents, and the utilities were off 20 cents.

Volume for the 17th time this year crossed the two million mark at 2,120,000 shares. That compared with 1,710,000 shares traded Monday when the market was down slightly.

As an indication of downside emphasis, 640,000 shares were traded in the fifth hour when prices were under pressure.

The American Stock Exchange was lower after a promising start. Volume amounted to 510,000 shares as compared with 590,000 shares traded Monday.

Most Grains Dip, Oats, Lard Even

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains extended Monday's losses on the Board of Trade Tuesday except in the case of oats. That feed item was practically unchanged.

Soybeans again trended in two directions. May and July contracts finished trading as much as two cents higher while other months were as much as a cent less.

Lard closed practically steady after sending the two nearest contracts to new seasonal highs.

At the close wheat was ⅝@2⅝ lower, corn 1@1¼ off, oats ⅛ up to ⅛ off and rye ¾@1¼ lower. Soybeans were unevenly 2 cents higher to one lower and lard 3 cents higher to 12 a hundred pounds lower.

Prevailing influence in the frequently headlong slide of grains was news of poor export possibilities for the near term.

Forecast of continuing dry weather over much of the winter wheat belt had lost its propping effect in the weakened market. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported rain is urgently needed in practically all of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

MUTUAL BROADCASTING SYSTEM

And Up Goes The TV Disc Receiver On 210 Foot Tower

Arching up into the air to the top of a 210 foot tower is a eight-foot (in diameter) aluminum TV receiving disc to be used for reception of broadcasting programs by KOLN-TV. The tower, costing $150,000, receives its programs as a leg in the transcontinental microwave radio relay system. Workmen Tuesday scrambled about the tower which stands 90 feet from the base of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph building, to fasten the reflector. It will receive microwaves from Gretna which, in turn, is a receiving station from Omaha. In the first picture, at left, Sam George, tower construction foreman for Foster Smetana Construction Company of Omaha, directs the initial stages of the disc's ascent. In the second and third pictures, workmen direct the disc's rising into the deep blue. The tower may in the future, serve as a vehicle for sending and receiving at least 3,000 micro-wave television calls at the same time.

County Commissioners Seek Salary-Setting Law 'Leeway'

Lancaster County Commissioners are looking for some "leeway" in LB9 requiring salaries of deputies and employees, in addition to county elected officers, be set four years in advance.

Before passage of the 1953 bill, Lancaster County and Douglas County boards set the salaries of elected officers, while their salaries in other counties were set by the Legislature.

However, LB 9 allowing all 93 counties to set salaries for elected officers also provides salaries of "deputies and employees" are also to be thus set in advance by the county boards.

The bill provides that salaries be set at least 60 days before the closing date for filings, or in this county, before April 30.

Language Clear

State Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck in a letter to Lancaster Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener says the statute's language is clear "that this must be done" although the act leaves "so many questions unanswered that its practical application leaves much to be desired."

"Some of the deficiencies can be corrected only by amendatory legislation," he said.

As a practical solution, Beck recommended "no salaries be fixed by name, but that the counties adopt a classification system for deputies and employees" with the suggestion that the state's merit system could serve as an available guide.

"As many classes could be set up as might be desirable—then if a particular employee merited a salary increase, he could be promoted to the next higher class," Beck said. Highway and bridge employees would probably be under a classification system, but laborers' salaries could be set at "prevailing wages."

Expresses Doubt

The Lancaster County Board expressed doubt that other counties are aware that all county salaries must be set for a four-year period under LB 9.

The possible effect of the bill's language, which was confirmed by Beck's letter, was first pointed out in this county by Commissioner Chauncey Barney.

While LB 9 may force this county to adopt some sort of "classification or merit system," it was also suggested by the board that possible salaries could be fixed at the present rate with the provision they could not increase or decrease more than a certain percentage during the four-year period.

Beck said "it is hoped the next Legislature will clarify the matter," but added that amendment should not be assumed and "it seems imperative to adopt a salary system now to hedge against the possibility the Legislature does not amend" the law.

Elgin Workers Talk CIO Union

An organizing committee of Elgin Watch Co. employees met at the Capitol Theater Tuesday night to discuss the questions involved in a possible starting of an International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) local at the plant here to replace the present Independent Watchworkers local.

The committee heard organizers from the CIO union, including the international vice president, James W. Click of St. Louis.

Disagreements the employees have with the present union were discussed by the committee and steps to take in organizing the new union were discussed. The organizers were invited to come here by employees of the watch firm plant here.

The proposed CIO union would be open to the same employees now members of the present local.

TALE OF THE CALICO SHIRT

by
J. P. Van Winkle
President
Stitzel-Weller Distillery
Louisville, Kentucky
Established 1849

Back in the old days a Kentucky farm woman would come to the general store and buy yard goods by the bolt.

It was easy to spot her family after that. Every member looked alike—shirts, dresses, aprons, bonnets—all in the same pattern of calico.

'Round that time in Kentucky old John E. Fitzgerald started making the famous sour mash bourbon which still bears his name. Folks could identify his whiskey every time too. Like the farm family, every bottle was like every other—rich, full-flavored, satisfying.

Today we still make OLD FITZGERALD on the identical formula that John E. perfected more than 75 years ago. And our customers often wonder how we maintain that selfsame flavor year after year.

The reason is we relate each new distillation to the last. We do that by saving out a portion of each batch to season the next. This preflavoring process, called "stilling back," is a vital part of Fitzgerald's original Sour Mash method, and enabled him, as it enables us, to keep the chain of identical flavor and quality unbroken and unduplicated to this very day.

We have a saying around our family distillery that we inherited the formula from old John, but that the whiskey inherits its pedigreed flavor from itself.

For your business entertaining you want a bourbon that identifies you as a wise and discerning host—a whiskey of unsurpassed character not just occasionally but in every bottle, case after case. One of our oldest customers describes Old Fitz as "sound as a nut—alike as peas in a pod!"

We invite you to join the inner circle of business executives who have discovered this uniform excellence, and find it good business to share with associates and friends.

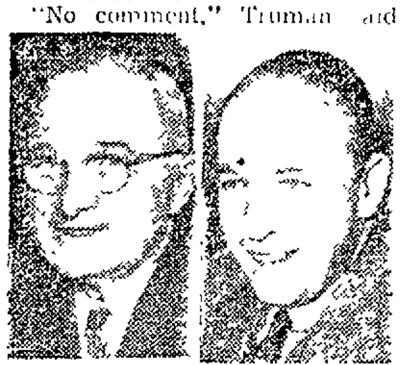
HST, Hickenlooper Clash Over Atom Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Former President Truman and Sen Hickenlooper (R-Ia) hooked up in a sharp cross-country clash over whether Great Britain still has a veto power over United States use of atomic bombs.

Yes, Britain has, Truman said in an interview at Kansas City

"Not correct," Hickenlooper told the Senate

"No comment," Truman said when asked about Hickenlooper's statement "The record speaks for itself"



Truman Hickenlooper

Hagerty Backs Senator

James C Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, declared: "Sen. Hickenlooper is correct"

Everyone agreed, however, that no nation holds veto power over U S use of the newly-developed hydrogen weapons

The question of atomic agreements flared when British Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons it was the "responsibility or misfortune" of Clement Attlee's 1945-51 government that a wartime British-American atomic pact was no longer in effect.

Atom Act

Attlee snapped back that the U S Congress ended the agreement, not his government The agreement he said, was cancelled by the U S. Atomic Energy Act of 1946

At that time, it was reported that the wartime pact, signed in 1943, had been a closely guarded secret from that time on Truman disputed this, saying many persons knew about it

Actually, the agreement was made public in April, 1952, with the publication of the private papers of the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican foreign affairs leader.

Vandenberg said Churchill and former President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed an agreement in 1943 providing that the atomic bomb could not be used against another country without the joint consent of the two powers.

The paper said that Vandenberg and Hickenlooper entered vigorous objections to the agreement when they learned of it late in 1947 and that an agreement with Britain and Canada was reached in January, 1943, to remove the British veto provision.

Thereafter, the papers said, "the final decision was left in the hands of the President, as specified by the American control legislation."

The Atomic Energy Act prohibits the sharing of atomic secrets with any other nation.

Truman got into the act when he was asked for comment on a statement made by Hagerty that the secret agreement was made in 1943 but that it is "not in effect at the present time."

In reply to questions, Hagerty said that "obviously" the agreement would have no bearing on the hydrogen bomb, since developed.

Truman agreed that the H-bomb could not be construed as coming under the 1943 agreement, but he said that the veto provisions against use of A-bombs in the agreement still apply.

The former President said the 1946 Atomic Energy Act did not cover that agreement.' 'We weren't sharing secrets with the British," he said "They were sharing theirs with ours."

The British, Truman continued, spent 20 million dollars on atomic research, found out they didn't have enough money and asked for American aid.

Patrolman's Name Misplaced In Item

The Star got two names mixed in an item in Tuesday's paper with the result that Safety Patrolman James Kontos' name was erroneously used in detailing the record of an escaped Penitentiary trusty whom Kontos picked up on Highway 6 near Waverly.

The Star regrets the error, and wishes to compliment Patrolman Kontos for his alertness in apprehending the trusty, Lynn Murer, 37, who had walked away from a dairy detail. Murer is serving a five-year term for burglary from Douglas County.
